

SIGNAL FOR ANOTHER WAR NOW FLARES

STARVATION FACING 30 PER CENT OF RUSSIA

Horrible Situation Is Pictured by Wife of Gen. Wrangel's Foreign Minister, Who Escaped Under Guns of Bolsheviks to London

LONDON.—Thirty per cent of the Russian population will starve this winter, according to Madame Struve, wife of General Wrangel's foreign minister, arriving here Saturday after a sensational escape from Russia.

For 12 hours, Madame Struve and her two sons rode in an open boat in the Bay of Finland, escaping under the very guns of the fortress of Kronstadt.

Madame Struve said she intended to go to Crimea, where her husband is with General Wrangel's beleaguered forces. She had not seen her husband in two years and in that period she has lived unknown in northern Russia where she served as secretary of the Bolshevik tribunal at Archangel.

HER ESCAPE COSTLY
Three million rubles was the price she paid for her escape, she said. She gave the money to smugglers who accomplished their mission in most daring fashion.

"Transportation is broken down completely in Russia," Madame Struve said. "There already is a scarcity of food and the famine which will be worse than in 1891, when thousands starved."

Petrograd, she described as a dying city, with vegetation springing up in deserted streets and wild birds nesting and singing in church towers and public buildings.

Of the 3,000,000 inhabitants of Petrograd before the war, only 500,000 women and 300,000 men are left, she said.

The agents, who were so enthusiastic over sovietism at the beginning, are firing it now, Madame Struve declared. Corruption and cruelty have caused the change, she believed.

HARRISON URGES PARTY CHANGE

Democratic Reorganization Proposed by Bureau Head.

WASHINGTON.—Reorganization of the Democratic party with Governor James M. Cox as its leader, was proposed Saturday by Senator J. H. Harrison of Mississippi, head of the Democratic speakers' bureau during the campaign.

Chairman George White should be retained and that attempts to punish those who were lukewarm during the campaign should be abandoned in interests of harmony. In his statement, Harrison made no mention of William Jennings Bryan, or William G. McAdoo, credited with ambitions to lead Democracy.

SEES NO NEED OF CHANGE
"I believe there should be a change in the permanent organization of the Democratic party," said Harrison. "I do not mean by that chairman George White should not be retained as national chairman. He showed marked ability in the management in the recent campaign which was waged against overwhelming odds."

He said he saw every Democrat in the country, no matter what his views in the past have been or what his course in the recent campaign, brought into line and a militant party to fight unitedly the reactionary policies the Republican party surely will attempt to inaugurate.

COX REAL LEADER
This work Harrison said, should be carried on from Washington headquarters, and past differences forgotten. Discussing Cox, the Mississippi senator said:

"Governor Cox made a gallant fight. He impressed the country as measuring up in the fullest degree to the important role to which he had been assigned. No one could have made a gamer or better fight, and Democrats and Republicans alike will accord him the full measure of credit due him. A grateful party will hold him in the highest esteem and for the splendid fight he has made will continue to look upon him as the real leader."

Senator Harrison said he did not know what the president intended doing with the treaty, but hoped he would re-submit it to the states.

Former Governor Joseph Folk, of Missouri, in a statement Saturday night, denied that he would take any part in re-organizing the Democratic party.

PLACE TO BE GIVEN
TRIAL HERE TUESDAY
Clarence Place, arrested Friday on a charge of bootlegging when assigned to police court Saturday, was set for Monday morning. However, as City Attorney Garling will be in Columbus that day attending the hearing of the Ohio Electric Co., by the state utilities commission, the case was again postponed. This time it has been set for Tuesday.

Place is alleged to have sold intoxicants at 601 E. Wayne-st. He was arrested by Chief Roush and Detective Criesberry.

TAKES COOLIDGE'S PLACE AS GOVERNOR

Channing Cox, Republican, is the new governor-elect of Massachusetts and hence will step into Governor Coolidge's office January 1, when Coolidge steps out to take his place as vice president March 4.

GERMANS HIT AT U. S. TROOPS

Occupation Soldiers Called Immoral in Berlin Report.

BERLIN.—Johannes Bell, former minister of transport, addressing the reichstag Saturday, charged American troops in the Rhine zone with drunkenness, immorality and destruction of property.

He described the situation as "unbearable," and demanded that the government appeal to Washington to notify the American representative here, saying he believed the American people were not aware of conditions in the army of occupation, and that they would not tolerate them if they knew of them.

Bernard Dernburg, former chancellor, told the reichstag Germany should immediately demand revision of the treaty of Versailles for "economic, humane and just reasons."

He suggested that the league of nations ought to undertake such revision.

The treaty, Dernburg declared, was not based on the fourteen points, as promised, and that Germany thus was justified in demanding its alteration. Further, he said, alteration was justified under the clause of the treaty itself permitting revisions.

Dernburg disagreed with the announced policy of foreign Minister Simmons—that the treaty should be fulfilled to the utmost to show its impossibility, saying that "it is impossible of fulfillment and unnecessary that Germany should be driven in further in this direction."

He also protested against the clause requiring Germany to admit she was wholly responsible for the war.

SEVEN WIN HONOR

Six Men and Woman Elected to Hall of Fame.

NEW YORK.—The names of six men and one woman were added to the American hall of fame in an election announced Saturday night by the senate of New York University.

The seven addressees are: Samuel Langhorne Clemens, author; James Buchanan Eads, engineer; Patrick Henry, statesman; William Thomas Green Morton, physician; Augustus Saint Gaudens, sculptor; Homer Williams, theologian; Alice Freeman Palmer, educator.

The electorate to the hall of fame consists of 96 men and six women. They included 27 college presidents, 18 historians and history teachers, 14 scientists, 14 authors and editors, 19 men and women of public affairs, 12 national or state justices.

The election was the fifth biennial event since the hall of fame was inaugurated at the university.

HOLSTINE MUCH IMPROVED
Friends of Gus Holstine will be glad to learn that he is recovering at St. Rita's hospital from the effects of an operation performed several weeks ago. In a short time he will be able to be removed to his home at 669 W. Elm-st.

FRANCE WILL AID NEW 'SOCIETY'

Ready to Co-operate in Forming Association of Nations.

NOT OPPOSED TO CHANGE

Washington Silent on the Reports From Paris.

PARIS.—The view was expressed in official circles Saturday that the French government would be ready to co-operate with the authorities at Washington in formulating something different from the covenant of the league of nations as drawn at Versailles in order to take its place. This statement was made in official quarters in referring to the declaration of President-elect Harding as called from Marion (Ind.) the French press to the effect that the Versailles "covenant" was now deceased.

FRENCH VIEW OF LEAGUE
This was interpreted by officials as applying to the covenant as drawn at Versailles and as indicating that something different from the Versailles agreement must take its place. It was stated by officials that the French government would be ready to give collaboration.

It has been the generally accepted view here that the French government would accept provisions by the United States regarding Article X and the other provisions of the covenant which had been the subject of controversy in the United States. In this connection it was pointed out in official circles Saturday that the original French idea of a league of nations did not contain anything like Article X.

AMENDMENT FAVORED

Whether the amended organization would be called a league or a society, or an association is immaterial to France, according to the government viewpoint. The essential thing, it is held, is to arrive as near as possible to the prevention of war. The French government considers that it would be regrettable to sacrifice the organization already set up and that the preferable procedure is to amend the existing league under the name of an association if that meets the American view.

WASHINGTON SILENT

WASHINGTON.—State department and White House officials refused Saturday to discuss reports from Paris published in this country that Myron T. Herrick, formerly ambassador to France, had been chosen as an intermediary in negotiations with President-elect Harding regarding Mr. Harding's proposal for an association of nations.

Officials at the state department would not say whether the French government formally had communicated to the present administration its desires to discuss this or other matters with the new administration in advance of its actual inauguration, nor would they say whether there was precedent for such a request.

They also refused to say whether they had information that Mr. Harding was to be asked by the French Geneva delegation to send a personal representative to the forthcoming meeting of the assembly of the league of nations.

It was stated some time ago that the United States would not be represented at this meeting even unofficially but Secretary Coby refused today to say whether an unofficial observer for the American government would attend the session.

CITY GROOMS FOR HARDING VISIT

Brownsville Prepares to Receive the President-Elect.

BROWNsville, Tex.—Brownsville is grooming itself for the coming visit of President-elect Harding. The celebration includes a parade with all Rio Grande valley towns represented. Harding is scheduled for a talk at Port Brown.

Plans for the meeting of President-elect Obregon and Harding, at the border have been abandoned, it was said. A desire for a complete rest during Harding's vacation and fear of contagion between the two governments that might estrange relations were given as causes for the abandonment of plans to have Obregon meet Harding.

The Harding party is expected to arrive Monday from San Antonio. Tentative plans call for a luncheon at the country club, followed by a round of golf. The party is expected to move to Point Isabel late in the afternoon.

GRAND JURY RECONVENES MONDAY TO FINISH WORK

The October grand jury will reconvene Monday for the closing work for the autumn. When it recessed October 9, it was with the understanding it would reconvene the Monday after election. Persons who have been bound over to the grand jury since that body convened will have their cases investigated. Prosecuting Attorney John L. Cable announces that nearly a week's work is yet before the body.

MILLIONAIRE HELD ON PERJURY CHARGE

New York Contractor Accused as "Go-Between" in the "Building Trust"—State Comptroller's Arrest Is Ordered for Alleged Irregularities

NEW YORK.—George Backer, millionaire contractor, alleged to have been a "go-between" in "building trust" activities now under investigation by the state, Saturday was formally arraigned on an indictment charging perjury.

While it was reported that Backer was one of three defendants named in indictments returned Friday by the additional grand jury, definite announcement was lacking both as to the names of those indicted and charges preferred.

Backer was charged with perjury in that while testifying before the joint legislative committee investigating the "trust," he had first asserted he gambled away $15,000 given him by Ephraim Levy, another builder, as a guarantee against further labor trouble, and then had admitted it had been paid to two strangers who looked like ex-convicts.

Backer, who boasted that he could put up $250,000 bail if it was required, was released on $15,000.

OFFICIAL TO BE ARRESTED
NEW YORK.—State Comptroller Eugene M. Travis Saturday was ordered held for the grand jury in a decision handed down by Chief Justice Kernochan of general sessions, who has presided at the John Doe inquiry conducted into alleged irregularities in the comptroller's office.

Justice Kernochan based his finding on a sale of $2,013,000 worth of New York city bonds to that state at 89 1-2 when the market price was 82 and interest. The sale was made by William H. Fanshawe and company for Albert L. Judson, dealer, and the state was declared to have overpaid $140,000 on the purchase.

The justice directed the district attorney's office to prepare papers on which he would issue a warrant for the arrest of the comptroller, Judson was not ordered held by Justice Kernochan, who asked the district attorney to submit a brief on Judson's refusal to sign a waiver of immunity when testifying.

TRIALS TO BEGIN AT INDIANAPOLIS

Palmer Not to Attend.

WASHINGTON.—Judge C. B. Ames, former assistant attorney general will represent the department of justice in the case of 12 coal miners and operators, who are to go on trial under the Lever act at Indianapolis Monday. It was announced at the department Saturday. Attorney General Palmer will not go to Indianapolis.

Federal Judge A. B. Anderson, before whom the accused men are to be tried, invited Palmer to Indianapolis to explain his orders against the use of certain evidence against the miners.

Following a conference between Palmer and other government attorneys interested in the case, it was announced late Saturday that Palmer would not go, but that Ames, who represented the government in the proceedings against the miners at the time of their strike a year ago, would go.

The conference at Palmer's office began early Saturday afternoon and lasted until evening. Those who attended besides Palmer are Henry S. Mitchell, special assistant in charge of coal investigations; Frederick Van Nuy, assistant district attorney at Indianapolis, and L. Earl Slack, assistant district attorney at Indianapolis.

The reasons for Palmer's refusal to accept Judge Anderson's invitation were not explained.

PHONES MERGED

Central Union Purchased by Ohio Bell Company.

COLUMBUS.—Pursuant to the plan recently announced, the name of the Cleveland Telephone Company has been changed to the Ohio Bell Telephone Company, and a petition was filed Saturday with the state public utilities commission covering the purchase by the Ohio Bell company of the properties of the Central Union Telephone Company located in the state. The two companies are associate companies of the Bell system. The Central Union Telephone Company is an Illinois corporation and for many years has operated a system of exchanges and toll lines in Ohio and other states. The Ohio properties comprising the Bell exchanges in Columbus, Toledo, Dayton, Akron, Youngstown, Canton, Springfield, Zanesville and several other cities. The company announced that no change in rates or local management is involved in the proposed sale.

ABOARD HARDING SPECIAL ENROUTE TO POINT ISABEL
ST. LOUIS.—President-elect Harding, addressing several thousand railroad workers in the freight yards at an impromptu meeting here Saturday night, declared the results of Tuesday's election proved to him that the people held Americanism above party spirit.

"I need not say I am very much pleased at the way Missouri voted," said Harding. In the next breath he said:

"We ceased to be Republicans Democrats or Socialists, but have become 100 per cent Americans."

Harding told the audience that a should join in working for the country's common good.

"We must recover from the war," he said. "We must have popular government again, but everybody must help."

Harding's train was delayed an hour and a half on its arrival here Saturday night. Speeches made at various points enroute caused the delay.

Passing thru the yards, here, Harding saw the railroad workers gathered in a group to cheer him. He invited on going back to speak to them.

Harding's train left here at 8:12 p. m.

APPOINTMENT CONFIRMED
ROME.—Appointment of Roland Riccio, an Italian ambassador to the United States, which was recently reported by newspapers here, has been officially confirmed.

POLES AND CZECHS MAY CLASH

Moscow-Warsaw Peace Pact Expected to Bring Conflict.

HUNGARY IS ALSO INVOLVED

Menace to Poland Is Seen in New Alliance.

LONDON.—Signing of the Russo-Polish peace pact at Riga may be the signal for another war, involving Poland and Czechoslovakia, according to the belief expressed in diplomatic circles here Saturday night.

At the Czechoslovak legation, it was pointed out that a rapprochement between Poland and Hungary apparently is progressing. It was stated that Hungary possesses 140,000 troops and Poland nearly 500,000, all of which would be available as soon as peace was signed. This it was declared, would constitute a serious menace to Czechoslovakia, despite the latter's affiliation with the Little Entente, which includes Yugoslavia and Rumania.

DENIED BY POLAND
The Little Entente was aimed primarily at curbing Hungary's ambitions. Great significance was attached to the fact Poland refused to take Jozsef's invitation to join the Little Entente.

The Polish legation here maintained the program is wholly peaceable and denied any intent of attempting to occupy the formerly disputed territory of Teschen, despite that Poland still regards awarding of Teschen to Czechoslovakia as unjust. Poland already is demobilizing the legation staff, and dropped the hint that Jozsef's conferences in Warsaw may yet result in Poland's affiliation with the Little Entente.

European officialdom generally was said to be anxious, however, realizing the temptation to the Polish military clique to utilize the surplus arms on hand to seize Teschen by force, thus precipitating further warfare.

'RED PERIL' DOESN'T ALARM GERMANY

BERLIN.—Germany looks without fear on the formation of a large communist party following the Halle split in the Independent Socialist party. Well informed observers among both Germans and Americans here Saturday night, declared there was little danger of red outbreaks of any proportion.

The communist party, it is believed, will gather between one and two million members.

Foreign office attaches, contrary to the cry of some months ago, when there was a constant alarm over the "red peril," declared they were not particularly frightened at the prospect and relied on the good sense of the German worker to prevent plunging the nation into the chaos which sovietism has made for Russia. American observers simply said: "It looks like a hard winter for Germany, but Bolshevism will not get a grip on the country. Germany will be on the upward path in 1921 if she survives the winter."

SOLONS QUOTED
The following thumbnail interviews were obtained from members of the reichstag:

Deputy Hue, miners' leader and majority Socialist:

"If the French cease threatening to occupy the Ruhr and the food problem is moderated with prices not too high, then Germany will be spared from Bolshevism."

Deputy Wells, commandant of Berlin during the 1919 riots, majority Socialist:

"Red danger there is none. It is quite certain there will be some disturbances as the result of unemployment and the hardships of winter; scarcity of coal and high food prices; they won't amount to much as the position of the radicals is weaker than ever."

Deputy Bernhard Dernburg, Democrat:

"Junction of a part of the independent socialist party with Moscow naturally strengthens the radical movement in Germany, but this can only become a real danger if hunger and unemployment—those two children of the Versailles treaty—become so great as to drive the masses into red hands."

GIRL, 6, SCALPED

Seven Persons Injured in Auto Crash at Canton.

CANTON.—Margaret Cotter, 6, was scalped and six other persons seriously injured when two automobiles came together in a head-on collision near here Saturday night, enroute to a great Republican jollification here.

Before the injured could be extricated from the machines, a third car, running at high speed, sideswiped the wreckage and continued on its way without stopping, the occupants reporting the accident by telephone to police on their arrival here.

Sheriff's deputies are looking for occupants of the third car.

"TURN THEM OUT" BATTLE CRY

Aftermath of Political Cataclysm Last Tuesday.

HARDING'S TASK DIFFICULT

Speculation as to Identity of New Cabinet Members.

Lima News Bureau, Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—Democratic officials as well as Democrats in the ranks in Washington were stunned almost beyond expression by the decisiveness of the blow dealt them by the American electorate in the Presidential and Congressional elections last Tuesday. As is written on the face of the matter, the recent conversion to the Democratic cause, without comment on the result. He said he was greatly "distressed and disappointed." Nothing in the way of a statement has come from President Wilson and there has been no promise of future comment. Dr. C. T. Grayson, the President's physician, said the President showed no ill effects from the reverse sustained by his party and was going about his usual family routine. The same reticence was observed at the offices of the American Federation of Labor which threw itself back of the Democratic cause, but there was universal opinion that organized labor, or at least its leaders, had sustained a crushing blow. The result was so staggering that it shocked even the most ardent Republicans who had confidently expected a decisive victory. In almost every instance, the majorities rolled up for the Republicans exceeded by far the most sanguine estimates of the campaign managers, part of whose business it is to claim majorities beyond which they hope to obtain. There seemed to be but one predominant issue everywhere—"turn them out," and the voters of all parties were in accord on that issue. They were no respecters of persons nor traditions. Washington today is mourning the forthcoming retirement of national leaders of the Democratic party, who have been associated with the official life of the capital so long that they had come to be regarded as fixtures and as inseparable in their home districts. But who went down with the avalanche that swept almost everything before it.

Ohio Democrats at the capital have not recovered from the heart-breaking news from their home state. For the first time in the state's political history, its Congressional delegation will be solidly Republican after March 4 next. Even in the Roosevelt landslide of 1904, which by comparison seems tame now, the Fourth district, long known as the "Gibraltar of Democracy," remained steadfast. Senator Harvey C. Grier, of Washington, is Ohio's lone Democratic representative in Congress. In that same district last Tuesday, Ben F. Welty, vainly seeking a third term, was retired to private life along with his seven Democratic colleagues from Ohio, among whom was General Isaac R. Sherwood, dean of the Ohio delegation and the oldest Democratic member of the lower branch of Congress. The majority for Senator Harding in Ohio almost passes beyond belief, as compared with other years, even taking into consideration the increase of the women's vote, and was indicative of the widespread desire for a change in administration at Washington throughout the country. Political house-cleaning in Ohio will start with the induction into office of Governor-elect Harry Davis next January, and the finishing touches will be applied after March 4, when Senator Harding will be inaugurated as President. Soon thereafter, office-holding in Ohio by Democrats will be included among the lost days.

No President ever had a more difficult duty ahead—now President Wilson during the war—than confronts Warren G. Harding. Presidential choice of the American people. Primarily his job will be to lead the United States safely through the period of after-war reconstruction to a place of "normalcy." Establishment of a world peace program is just one phase of this enormous task. The people are restive, business is disturbed as it goes through a process of deflation, labor is agitated, agriculture is threatened with the worst fall of decades, and taxes are too high. The charge that the Wilson administration failed to meet the domestic needs was probably more responsible for the unprecedented Republican vote last Tuesday than even the League of Nations or its alleged counterpart, Wilsonism and the autocracy of the Washington regime.

It was a Republican victory, of course, but it is no sense wholly a party victory. It was an expression of all the dissatisfied elements that wanted a change and many of them were not Republican. Party cohesion does not exist for Harding as it has in the past. In his own councils, Harding finds two widely separated elements—extreme conservatives, extreme radicals, strong pro-League, bitter irreconcilables. He has held these discordant party and national elements together until after election and done so most successfully. Now is the harder task of trying to hold them together as promises are translated into action through the harmonizing process. With Harding the next four years will see a return to party government, if possible, as it was known two decades ago. There will be no Harding politics as individual politicians. But Republicans will be kept up after consultation and conference. He is fortunate in that the avalanche of votes cast for him carried with them tremendous majorities in the House and Senate, making his task much easier than it otherwise would have been. As a matter of fact, the Republicans haven't controlled the Senate at all during the last two years, despite their slender majority. La Follette and a group of other Senators have made no pretense of being strictly party men. Johnson and Borah frequently have refused to stand hitched on party questions, and it often required compromise to bring all the party membership into line. But Harding will have such a substantial Senate majority that the influence of La Follette, Johnson, Borah and Ladd, the non-partisan League from North Dakota, and other intense Republican radicals will not be what it would have been if the majority had been a slender one. They will be considered, of course, but they will not have an exaggerated influence. So in this respect the American people have given Senator Harding rather free hand. If he fails, it will not be because of lack of legislative support, but thru his own mistakes.

The elections further spelled unquestionably the doom of the League of Nations. It was brought back from Versailles. The verdict was too pronounced to admit of any other reasoning. It is quite likely that a majority of the "holdover" Democrats will fall in with any reasonable program to get the whole proposition settled. Irreconcilables were elected in the persons of Ladd of North Dakota, Moses of New Hampshire, Brandegee of Connecticut, Shortridge of California, Watson of Georgia, and a few others who have been said to hold to the extreme view, but there were reservationsists elected in even larger number. Developments of the closing weeks of the campaign are especially significant, taken by Senator Harding in the light that while there may be a squabble over the League, it will not be a long drawn out fight. It will be over details and probably not over vitals. The original League is gone, apparently. Article 10 is gone. Article 11 is gone. The military alliance represented in the Council of Nine may be abandoned. That much of his own frame of mind on this subject the President-elect has made clear. But there will be a league or association of nations to promote world harmony, whatever it is called. It probably will take on the form of the Hague Tribunal for arbitral questions with all nations pledged to submit such questions to it for consideration. It probably will take the form of a court of justice, judicial rather than executive in character, to make findings on threats of war and probably provide for a conference of nations to discuss means of avoiding war. Neither element on the League question among Senator Harding's supporters is being abandoned. That much of his own frame of mind on this subject the President-elect has made clear. Washington today is mourning the forthcoming retirement of national leaders of the Democratic party, who have been associated with the official life of the capital so long that they had come to be regarded as fixtures and as inseparable in their home districts. But who went down with the avalanche that swept almost everything before it.

No one in Washington professes to know what decision, if any, the President has made with regard to the League of Nations. The closing months of his administration. It has been reported that he will not give up the fight for the League in office or out of office. Two courses are regarded as open to him—to leave the whole question of peace with Germany and the League to the new administration or to submit the treaty to the Senate at the session beginning early in December. Many think he will follow the latter course unless the treaty is re-submitted to the Senate that body at it forthcoming session could act on the question of peace with Germany by resolution only. Such a resolution was adopted at the last session but was vetoed by President Wilson. No hint has been given whether Republicans contemplate such a move again.

Picking a Cabinet for the President-elect is now the favorite pastime of political writers and commentators, and many names have been suggested as likely Cabinet possibilities. It is agreed generally that Harding intends to surround himself with strong men, men who will prove to be able assistants in the consideration of the momentous problems that are certain to be encountered during the next four years. The names of Elihu Root and Senator Knox are mentioned most frequently in connection with the senior Cabinet post, that of Secretary of State, that of Root is there has been rumors that Root is not in such high favor as he once was with the President-elect. Governor Lowden of Illinois is regarded as a likely choice for Secretary of the Treasury, the many others have been mentioned in this connection. It is almost universally accepted that Herbert Hoover will be called to a Cabinet post, either as Secretary of Commerce or as Secretary of the Interior. Major-General Leonard Wood, another rival of Senator Harding for the Republican nomination, is said to be sure of an important place, either as Secretary of War or as Chief of Staff. Ex-Senator George H. Sutherland, of Utah, a close friend and advisor of the President-elect, is being tipped for Attorney General, or possibly Secretary of State. Former Senator John W. Weeks of Massachusetts is most prominently mentioned for Secretary of the Navy. Choice for Secretary of Agriculture lies between Henry M. Wallace of Iowa and Senator Arthur Capper of Kansas, with chances favoring the former. Either Chairman Will Hays or Harry M. Daugherty of Ohio is picked as the political member of the Cabinet, usually installed in the office of Postmaster-General. Walter F. Brown, former Progressive leader in Ohio, also is mentioned among Cabinet possibilities, as are former Justice Charles E. Hughes, Senator Kenyon of Iowa, Senator Lodge, Senator Watson, Senator Lenroot, Frank A. Vanderlip, Clifford Pinchot, Raymond Robbins, former Progressive, and others.

Ten of the present Representatives in Congress from Ohio will be missing from their seats when the Sixty-Seventh Congress is convened some time after March 4th next. Two of the number are Republicans, Representative Roscoe C. McCulloch of Canton, who retired to make the race for the Republican nomination for Governor, and Henry J. Emerson, of Cleveland, who was defeated for renomination by former Senator Theodore E. Burton. The other eight are Democrats, two of whom, Warren E. Gard of Hamilton and Clement Brumbaugh of Columbus, did not seek renomination. The six Democrats are expected to succeed themselves but who went down with the landslide are Ben F. Welty, of Lima; Isaac R. Sherwood of Toledo; Martin L. Davey of Kent; William A. Ashbrook of Johnstown; and Charles A. Mooney and John J. Babka of Cleveland.

New faces in the Ohio delegation, all Republicans, will be Roy Fitzgibbon of Dayton, John L. Cable of Lima, W. W. Chalmers of Toledo; John C. Steaks of Columbus; C. L. Knight of Akron; D. C. Morgan of Newark; J. H. Himes of Canton; and Miner G. Norton, Harry C. Gahn, and Theodore K. Burton of Cleveland. Holdover members, all Republicans, are Nicholas Longworth and A. E. Stephens of Cincinnati; Charles J. Thompson of Defiance; Charles C.

Kearns of Batavia; Simeon D. Fess of Yellow Springs; R. Clint Cole of Findlay; Israel M. Foster of Athens; Edwin D. Bicketts of Logan; James F. Beer of Sandusky; C. Ellis Moore of Cambridge; Frank Murphy of Steubenville; and John G. Cooper of Youngstown.

Looking over what was left of the terrific landslide, Democratic leaders saw the prospects of approximately 5000 of their party being turned out of the Federal service in the next few months. Resignations of many are expected in a few weeks and from now on until March 4, the government is likely to find itself running without many executive heads. The Senate failed to reconfirm many of President Wilson's appointments, including postmaster, a controller of the currency, and an ambassador to Mexico. President Wilson also failed to make many appointments including five members of the Shipping Board. These places will be filled by President-elect Harding when he assumes office next March.

DECLARES CROOKS SICK, NOT BAD

Dr. Max Schapp, Says Many Should be in Hospitals

COLUMBUS.—That some criminals should not be placed in prison but ought to receive medical and, in some cases, surgical treatment is the claim made before the convention of the Prison Physicians' Association here by Dr. Max Schapp, head of the Post Graduate Hospital and chairman of the medical board of the Children's Court, New York City. He said criminals of a certain class are only sick and can be "remade."

Included in this class are those who, because of abnormal emotional trends are forced to commit acts over which they have no intellectual control. The dual mind, consisting of an intellectual center and an emotional center, each of which, acting together or separately, cause the "motivating center" to act, constitutes the basis for Dr. Schapp's theory. These "sick" criminals, he classified as the traumatic, formative and functional types.

The traumatic and formative types, he said, are due to physical imperfections beyond the human control. All persons whose brain cells do not react normally to stimulation are included in the functional type. Dr. Schapp explained that this disturbance is due to a secretion within the body which impels the individual to perform abnormal acts through his emotional brain, regardless of his intelligence, showing such persons to be afflicted thru a physical imperfection which medicine can cure.

"It is foolish to build institutions for detaining criminals for long periods as a punishment for a condition for which they are not responsible, and then discharge them without doing anything to remove the cause of their trouble," declared Dr. Schapp. "Every person handled in this manner is not only an expense to the State, but is made a potential menace. His emotional insanity lays him wide open to all sorts of impulses from external criminals. The attitude of the public must change toward the social problem, if conditions are to be improved. Hospitals must be substituted for prisons and treatment for punishment so far as defective are concerned."

POST TO OBSERVE ARMISTICE DAY

Final Plans Will Be Made at Meeting Monday Night.

Arrangements are being made by Paul Gallagher Post, No. 98, American Legion, for an extensive celebration here Armistice Day. The affair was discussed at the post meeting last Friday evening. Sergeant Long, of the local recruiting station, was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements. Notices will be sent to all ex-service men, whether or not they are members of the legion. They will be urged to participate in the parade which will be held Thursday afternoon. Those ex-service men participating will wear their uniforms. An invitation also has been extended Spanish War Veterans, local Post 1009, Civil War veterans and Boy Scouts. All citizens also will be urged to swell the ranks. Post Adjutant William H. Gallant, Saturday stated.

BANQUET OF CROW

G. O. P. Will Eat Turkey, However, Next Wednesday.

Disappointed Democrats will eat crow, figuratively, while their luckier brothers, the Republicans, will feast on turkey, at the annual crow banquet, to be held next Wednesday evening, Nov. 10, in Columbus Grove. It is the way Democrats have of paying their failure to win the election and loss of their bet. Harry L. Davis, governor-elect of Ohio; Frank R. Willis, United States Senator-elect from Ohio; Hon. Ralph D. Cole, Findlay; W. W. Durbin, Kenton, State Democratic campaign manager; John H. Newman, supreme court reporter, Columbus; and Cyrus B. Locher, Cleveland, former prosecuting attorney of Cuyahoga county, will be among the distinguished visitors. Politicians from all over northwestern Ohio have been invited. Three hundred and fifty will partake of the banquet, which will be served in the Star-weather room. E. T. Lippincott, Lima, prosecuting attorney-elect, will be toastmaster on the occasion.

CONSTITUTION FOR MERGER READY

Those Interested in Welfare Work to Meet Wednesday.

Having completed a tentative constitution for community welfare service here, the committee which drafted it will present the paper to a meeting of interested citizens Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. This meeting will be held in the Chamber of Commerce auditorium. At recent meeting of those citizens interested in furthering this work a committee was chosen to draft the constitution. The personnel of the committee is Walt Parmenter, chairman; Mrs. Julius Solomon, James L. Henry, Judge Fred C. Becker and W. H. Luback.

An effort will be made to present the constitution to all organizations in the city doing welfare work. Parmenter declared Saturday. These organizations are urged to have delegates present at the Wednesday meeting. At that time the constitution drafted will either be accepted or corrected. Those persons who contributed to the expense of having the constitution printed are especially urged to be present. Parmenter said. Because the action taken upon the draft Wednesday shall represent the composite judgment of those interested in welfare work, an effort will be made to have a full representation of welfare organizations.

UNREST SHOWN BY MEXICAN POLICE

Pay Boost Granted Some Brigs Demands from Others.

MEXICO CITY, Tex.—Unrest has begun to affect the police of some Mexican cities. The situation is similar to that in the United States, when policemen organized unions and went on strike or threatened to strike in some places, notably Boston. The present situation is believed to be due to the action here to increase in the salaries of policemen from two and a half pesos a day or $1.25, to five pesos a day, or $2.50. This, it is thought, has caused the policemen in other cities, who are badly paid, to take steps to get increases.

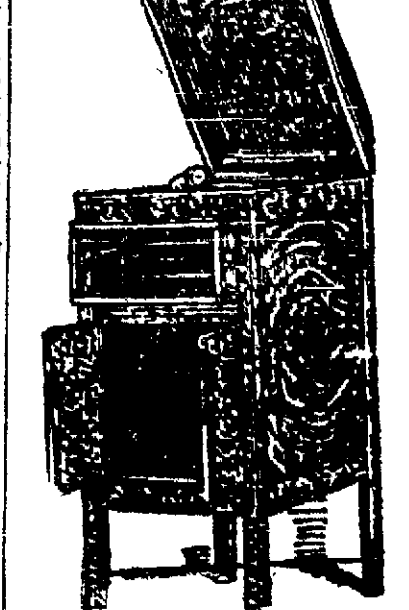

Strikes of "senors gendarmes" (policemen) are threatened, according to reports received here, in Hidalgo and Juarez. Since the decision to increase the salaries of policemen here there has been a great improvement in the appearance of the guardians of the peace. A month ago many policemen were seen with patches in their uniforms as large as a stove lid. The uniforms are of a dark grey color, but the patches were of almost every color, the hue apparently depending upon what the policeman's wife found in her reservoir of patch cloth when requested to repair "senor gendarme's" breeches.

These ludicrous patches are now disappearing and the police force of the capital is beginning to look more presentable. The new men being added to the police force are a great improvement on the old. Many of them have seen military service. It is said that when the sergeant-major acted to reduce the standing army so as to reduce expense efforts have been made to place as many of the soldiers as possible on the police force and in similar positions. A number of soldiers are also being helped to make a start in farming. In some places military farming colonies are being formed. The Department of Agriculture has a fund of $1,000,000 pesos or $500,000 with which to buy agricultural machinery for these colonies.

ABANDONMENT CHARGED. Abandonment of her young child was the charge upon which Mrs. Ida Brown, S. Cole-st., was brought back from Toledo Saturday. Mrs. Brown, when arraigned in Justice Ernest M. Borklin's court, pleaded not guilty. Her trial is set for Monday. She is the wife of John Brown.

THANKS BURGLARS FOR DISCOVERING HIS RYE

ATLANTA Ga.—Former Mayor James G. Woodward is happy because burglars who visited his home in No. 181 East Hunter-st. in their ramblings about his home discovered some old rye liquor which had been hid ten years ago and which Mr. Woodward had forgotten long ago. When Mr. Woodward and his family returned home late several half pint bottles of Lewis 56, Four Roses, three Feathers and other brands were found on the floor in one of the rooms. Clutching worth several hundred dollars was taken. Why the burglars did not steal the liquor is the most amazing thing about the robbery.

GAS EXPERT WILL MAKE REPORT

Will Furnish Working Basis Here—Other Cities Raise Rates.

Following a thorough examination of conditions here, a written report will be made to council Monday night by E. E. Brownell, expert employed by the gas committee to make a probe and furnish data for a working basis for a new contract between the city and gas company. It is understood that this report will not be complete but that it will contain sufficient information for immediate action since the time is growing short for signing a contract. The Medina Gas Co. has given the Lima company until November 15, to take action of a new rate contract which fixed the price of gas to the Lima distributors at 40 cents.

Brownell's report probably will carry a suggestion as to the price he believes is fair here and the city and company can then start negotiations. Advances in the price of gas are being made in various other cities this fall. The head of the Medina Gas Co. which supplies Cleveland has announced that his company must receive $1 a thousand for gas from that city. Ashtabula, at the election last Tuesday, approved on referendum vote the gas ordinance for that city which fixes a sliding scale of $1.125 and $1.50 for natural gas, beginning at once.

BEDS ARE WANTED

Accommodations for Boy Guests Are Being Sought.

Beds and cots in private homes are wanted to take care of the 1,000 boys who are expected to attend the Seventeenth Annual Session of the Older Boys' Conference here November 26, 27 and 28. This request was made Saturday by E. A. Leeson, head of the boys' department at the local "Y." Any family in the city who can accommodate one or more of these lads is urged to call Leeson or the pastor of any church. The first session of the conference will be held Friday evening at the High School. Dr. L. C. Wright, of the Epworth M. E. church, Cleveland, will address the gathering that evening. For a number of years, Dr. Wright was connected with Y. M. C. A. boys' work in Massachusetts and other eastern states. He was also in France as Y. M. C. A. hut secretary. Another prominent man who will take part in the conference is Tom Lanham, of South Carolina. Lanham was formerly State Secretary of Ohio Y. M. C. A. He has for at least years been interested in boys' work.

AMBULANCE REMOVALS. SIFERD: Mrs. Anna May Stokes, 118 W. Circular-st., to City hospital for an operation for appendicitis. LONG & BOWERSOCK: Mrs. O. C. Drift, 1119 E. North-st., to City hospital, Ludwig Selts, Dr. Beam's clinic to his home, 232 S. Elizabeth-st. Mrs. Tina Berry, City hospital to 653 S. Main-st.

BUSY WEEK AHEAD OF Y. M. C. A.

Many Meetings of Importance Are on Schedule.

This week promises to be an extremely busy one with the local Y. M. C. A. There is a meeting scheduled for each night. Federated churches will hold their regular meeting Monday night at 7:30 o'clock. At the same time representatives of industries will meet to formulate plans for a bowling league.

Sunday school superintendents will gather in the building at 7:30 o'clock Tuesday evening. They will discuss plans for bringing church members to Sunday school during the winter months. At 5 o'clock Tuesday afternoon the Educational Committee will hold a meeting. The executive board of the Y. M. C. A. will hold its regular meeting. Nothing of importance is scheduled to come before this body. This meeting will be held at 6 o'clock. The Religious Work Committee will meet the same evening at 8 o'clock. Hon. H. White, renowned traveler, and International Secretary in India will address the regular noon luncheon of business and professional men Thursday.

Charles R. Hook, vice-president of the American Rolling Mills Co., Middletown, will talk at the Y 4-Mens Club Friday evening. Hon. Harry White will also address this gathering. Efforts to perfect the organization of a salesmanship class will be made Friday evening at 8 o'clock. R. B. Barnhardt, teacher, will preside over this meeting.

ARREST MOWERY

Illegal Sale of Liquor Charged By Police Officers.

Charged with illegally selling intoxicating liquor, Harold Mowery, 30, 444 1/2 S. Main-st., was arrested by Sergeant Eberle and McCoy Saturday afternoon about 5 o'clock. Mowery was arrested in his restaurant at 444 S. Main-st. Chief of Police Roush has appointed a new plainclothesman to combat bootleggers. It was he who is alleged to have procured the evidence on Mowery. According to Night Chief Dawson this officer purchased a drink of intoxicating liquor from Mowery. The officer is said to have paid $1 for the drink. Mowery was formerly deputy county auditor, and former treasurer of the local Moose lodge. Ray Kinzer was also arrested on a similar charge. This arrest was made at 301 E. Wayne-st.

MANY GERMAN RESIDENTS PASS THE CENTURY MARK

BERLIN.—Despite the privations of the hunger blockade, which is reported to have caused the premature deaths of more than one million Germans, Germany's Methodist class is still going strong. Official statistics show that there are 55 women and 42 men who have passed the century mark. Of the ninety-year-old and over class there are 3,600 men and 7,300 women. Five men and one woman pass the 100-year milestone are still married. The Tagliche Rundschau considered the above figures material for reflection. "Especially interesting are the war and revolutionary marriages. The number of married persons between sixteen and twenty-five years is considerably larger than in pre-war times. Significant also is the large number of widows under twenty years of age who have been married for a second and a third time. Of the divorces in the past year 60 per cent are of couples married during the war, while 20 per cent of the divorces are directly traceable to the war; that is, infidelity during the war, etc."

The peace conference at Spa smokes 80,000 francs worth of cigars and none of the governments will pay for them. The bill has been sent to the league of nations, and the league has no money. The Indians had a cheaper plan. They always smoked a peace pipe. port of several cases of sleeping sickness, but in Philadelphia, is it an epidemic or a habit?

BRITAIN CALLS CONFERENCE ON REPARATIONS QUESTION

PARIS—Great Britain has called a conference of the British, French and Italian premiers to discuss the questions of reparations. The note was said to have made several suggestions regarding the means of collecting the war payments. President Millerand late Saturday sent British Ambassador Derry a response, agreeing with the important points in the British note. At the same time the French foreign office announced that all differences between Great Britain and France on the question had been adjusted and that only a few minor details remained to be worked out.

JEWERS ARRESTED

Detectives Charge Unlawful Sale of Liquor Here.

William Jewers, 604 S. Atlantic, proprietor of a soft drink emporium at 303 S. Main-st., was arrested late Saturday night by Detectives Crisenberry and Dawson, charged with unlawfully selling intoxicating liquor. The officers allege Jewers was selling whiskey over the bar by drinks when they arrested him. Last August 17, he was arrested on the same charge and was fined $50 and costs.

CHARGE GAMBLING

Seven Men Arrested in N. Main-st Cafe By Police.

Seven men were arrested late Saturday night in the cafe of C. H. Moeller, 514 N. Main-st., by Detectives Crisenberry and Dawson, charged with gambling. The officers say a poker game was in progress when they entered and that $18 was taken from the table on which the game was being played. Moeller is charged with running a gambling game. Those arrested gave their names as: S. A. Brock, 401 E. Findlay; H. Clay, Bellefontaine-ave.; J. Truett, 1240 Reese-ave.; Emil Carlton, Spencerville; Charles Brown, 1134 N. Main-st.; and Frank Graves, Kenton.

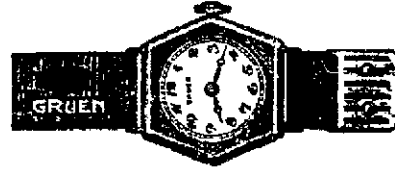

GERMAN RED TAPE AS INTRICATE AS BEFORE WAR

BERLIN.—The revolution has not disturbed any of the intricate red tape of Berlin's city government. "Saturday morning the water pipe in my basement broke, immediately flooding the cellar," writes a West Lichtenfelde resident to the Berliner Tageblatt. "I immediately telephoned to the Charlottenburg waterworks for a plumber. 'You must report it in writing,' was the reply. Upon my protest that the letter wouldn't reach the office until Saturday night and that they wouldn't send a plumber on Sunday I was informed: 'Those are the regulations; you'll have to notify us in writing.' The result was we lived in a flood all Saturday and Sunday."

FIRE IN THEATER

A fire of unknown origin shortly after noon Saturday, was discovered in the Royal theater, burning in the floor. Firemen worked for several minutes extinguishing the blaze and the flood of water prohibited the showing of pictures. The peace conference at Spa smokes 80,000 francs worth of cigars and none of the governments will pay for them. The bill has been sent to the league of nations, and the league has no money. The Indians had a cheaper plan. They always smoked a peace pipe. port of several cases of sleeping sickness, but in Philadelphia, is it an epidemic or a habit?

"Gifts That Last"

Wrist Watches That Disclose the Highest Artistry

THE pride you take in the watch you carry is the result of three things, the intrinsic beauty of the watch, its dependability, and its reputation.

Our own line of watches was chosen with these points in mind. In our displays you will find the daintiest of wrist watches, wrought in white and green and yellow gold, in platinum and diamonds—some delicately hand-chased, others inlaid with enamel—creations of rare charm and grace which you instantly recognize as leaders in the watchmaking field.

Particularly distinctive is our selection of Gruen Watches. The Gruen Guild of craftsmen are famous as makers of small watches—watches which combine accuracy with the utmost in artistry. Here, also, you will find the Gruen Verithin Watch—a watch as modern as the cut of your clothes—a timekeeper of the greatest accuracy.

When you own a Gruen Watch you will feel that pride which comes with the possession of a fine watch. We particularly invite you to come in and view them.

DOMESTIC RELATIONS COURT HAS LIGHT DAY
Judge William Klingler's ever-worked court of domestic relations had a light day Saturday. Maybe it was the after-effect of election, however, there was but one case up for trial. No new cases were filed and no answers to previous suits corded. Mrs. Clara Pullman was the plaintiff to whom the decree was awarded. She was divorced from Earnest Pullman on the grounds of desertion. Mrs. Pullman told her story, which was not contested in court.

BUSINESS CONDITIONS

THE expected business boom to come with the election of a Republican president and congress has not materialized, but the slump which began as far back as May, continues to rule the business world. Wheat, corn, cotton, silks, representing food and wearables at the base, continue to show declining tendency, but with every indication that they are apparently on the bottom.

Manufacturing is consistently declining all over the country and this affects not only the much advertised automobile industry, but every line of human endeavor. Luxuries are not being purchased by the public, the ultimate consumer in the last analysis being the arbiter of what occurs at the mills.

The present is not a pessimistic stage of business, but a critical period, for inspection of one's own affairs. It is time to go over what you owe; and tabulate what you possess. The future is going to be much better; there is no doubt about it. We are on the bottom, we are in the period of bargain, from merchandise to bonds. There may be flurries up and down but they will be flurries and not fundamentals. It is a slowing up progress all along the line until we reach a place where price levels become stabilized. As expressed last week, The News believes we have reached that stage, but the buying public does not.

Pay-rolls show a slight depression over the city, largely attributed to the building trades. Bank deposits for checking account, are down; savings accounts, however, are firm and in many banks, slightly higher. Thrift is upper most in many minds, and the carrying of large bills in pocketbooks is keeping much money out of bank vaults. This is foolish, but many things are foolish. It is time to buy what you need; and no time to go into debt, expand, or live upon future expectations.

THINGS TO BE DONE

THE League of Nations has been declared dead by the successful candidate in the Presidential election last week. He has a plan for some union, altho this has not been explained. That can wait, however, until his party is in full control since the "solemn referendum" scrapped the League.

But there are some things the public would appreciate having done. These in power now and the ones to take up the reins soon can make warm friends by starting at once to grapple with them. Among these are:

1. The making of peace.
2. The cost of living.
3. The relation between capital and labor.
4. The house shortage.

These things were scarcely mentioned in the campaign, but they present some of the biggest problems the new administration will have to face.

HARDING DECLINES

IN refusing the tender of the use of a warship by Secretary of the Navy Daniels at the order of President Wilson for a trip to Panama, Senator Warren G. Harding, President-elect, did just what was expected he would do and as a matter of fact, just what he should have done, in the opinion of many, altho President Wilson is to be commended for offering it.

The action of the chief executive indicates that he has no resentment as a result of the election and that he wishes to do the kindly thing. Mr. Harding is a United States Senator and in that position is as much entitled to consideration as tho he was already President.

However, Republicans are perhaps pleased that President Wilson offered the use of a warship and Democrats are pleased that Senator Harding declined it.

AS YOU LIKE IT

Out in our neighborhood the other evening the tenants had a meeting. Notices were sent out to all and sundry to be on hand because important matters were to be discussed, and there was a considerable amount of excitement in the neighborhood. People looked forward to the meeting with interest, the tenants of three or four houses planned to attend, which they did. The meeting, which was called to protest against the recent raises in rents and other difficulties of present dwelling, was held in a restaurant in the neighborhood, and a very good restaurant, too. There were so many people on hand that the restaurant couldn't care for all and some had to wait. The poor tenants, many of them who had not a dollar in the world, sat down at the tables and everybody ordered what he could afford. The restaurant proprietor put a lot of extra waiters and an extra chef and the orders for lobster and chicken and prime rib roasts and filet mignon swamped them. When the grand feed was about half over, an orchestra, concealed behind a bank of palms, began the seductive strains of a current fox-trot. The poor tenants began dancing and they danced until 2 o'clock in the morning. The chairman who was to preside at the meeting forgot all about it and no one reminded him and 2 o'clock, of course, it was too late. The limousines of the tenants began arriving at 2 o'clock and they all went home, pronouncing it the most successful tenant's meeting they had ever attended. The rents remain the same.

SHORT ONES

A DOLLAR doesn't look so much like thirty cents since prices started to drop.

THE work of saving the country—i. e. handing out the jobs—is yet to be done.

LIMAITES who have been trying to buy coal for weeks know what the expression, "hard coal men," means.

PEOPLE are getting more sensible. Proof? No one has been seen rolling a peanut around the square with a toothpick to pay an election bet.

A SCIENTIST has discovered unburnable gas for balloons. That's nothing. Everyone found plenty of that kind in the campaign which just closed.

THEY'RE batting well over .500 in the Happiness League for the applications for marriage licenses far outnumber the divorce petitions in Allen-co.

SUFFERING ARMENIA

UNRESTRAINED by stronger hands and giving free rein to their age-old thirst for blood and carnage, the unspeakable Turk is again butchering and killing and ravaging in Armenia. The bloodthirsty Mohammedans are decimating by thousands the inhabitants of peaceful, christian Armenia.

Strong in its might looked upon by the world as the greatest example of the spirit of "peace on earth, good will to men," and an exponent of the thought "I am my brother's keeper," yet America refused a mandate over Armenia—refused to stand by as a big brother, to protect the weak, God loving and God fearing nation from the savage hordes that know little save to kill the weak and fear the strong.

America refused to lend its moral force to save Armenia, as it has protected the republics of Central and South America for nearly a century under the Monroe doctrine. And the slaughter goes on. The pity of it!

When the lowly shepherds watched their flocks on the plains near Bethlehem and wise men followed the guiding star, the Son of God had not where to lay his head. More than three centuries later the first of the earth's nations adopted the teachings of the Leader who had been the Babe of Bethlehem and whose birth the whole civilized world celebrates today in sacred festival.

That country was Armenia. Desperate, hungry, persecuted, besieged by enemies from within and without and at last all but annihilated by devastating war, Armenia has fought pluckily for existence. Even in her extremity, probably never paralleled in the history of the world, certainly not in modern times, she asks no charity.

America is providing food for the starved waifs, warm clothing is being sent for the shivering, pain-racked little bodies. But Armenia could easily and quickly work out her own salvation if only protected from the bloody Turks. America refused to order Turkey to stop the annihilation of Armenians and the slaughter goes on.

USING "WHITE COAL"

WITH the diminishing of the world's resources the development of "white coal," water power, is commanding much attention. The United States leads in the matter of developed or potential water horse power, there being 30,000,000 such units available. The per capita development, however, is only .07 while in Norway it is .54 and in Canada .26, the last named countries leading the world in this development.

MISS LIMA: "Any citizen who isn't thoroly sold on his home city, ought to get busy and see to it at once. No man is valuable to his town who doesn't believe implicitly in it."

SO SAY WE, ALL OF US

My landlord is a pleasant soul. He buys nine hundred tons of coal. To meet the winter storm. He comes each day just to inquire. If mental keep up the fire. And we are plenty warm.

He has a hall-boy at the door. To do each little task and chore. And we'll say he's a gent. What others do or may not do. In making tenants all come thru. He never boosts the rent.

He asks us each and every day. If things suit us in every way. And we're contented, quite. Of course you say he does not live. He doesn't, but my word I give. I dreamed this bird one night.

Love at first sight is wonderful. Of course, but it doesn't cost a cent to take a second look.

WHAT THE STARS PREDICT TODAY

The stars are friendly today. Dissension and dissatisfaction will be rife under this rule. It is a fortunate sign under which to make plans. Leaders and teachers will derive many benefits while this sign prevails. The activities of hospitals at this time indicates the prevalence of disease. Persons whose birthday this is will have a year of travel and change. Children born today will make fortunate marriages. (Copyright, 1920)

YOUR NAME

VARIATIONS—Adam, Adamson, Addison, Atkins, Atkinson, Adkins, Adkinson, Adie, Edie, MacAdam, MacAdie, MacKeggie, Ayson, Esson.

RACIAL ORIGIN—English and Scottish.

SOURCE—A given name. The family name of Adams is, of course, a shortened form of Adamson, or "Adam's son."

This surname together with the many variations which have been formed from the medieval diminutives of the given name, is unusually widespread, because the given name itself was far more common in the Middle Ages than it is today.

The medieval English were a sturdy, simple folk, comparatively few of whom could read, and so they lacked the modern facilities to search thru the Scriptures for names for their children that the modern ability to read, coupled with the development of printing, would have given them. There was little incentive to learn to read, since books could be produced only by handwriting and were excessively expensive. Hence they got their knowledge of the Scriptures by word of mouth, and naturally the names which stuck in their memories were those connected with the most dramatic passages. Naturally the story of the creation was among the most prominent, which explains why the name of Eve as well as Adam was so popular.

"Adcock" was a diminutive of the given name. It became a family name, as "Adcockson," and was finally shortened again to Adcock. "Ad" and "Adkin" or "Atkin" were also forms of the given name, giving rise to Addison, Adkins, Adkinson, Atkins and Atkinson.

The Scottish or Celtic form of the given name was "Adhamh." A sept of the Clan Gordon bears this name, tracing it to Adam de Gordon, Anglo-Norman founder of the clan in the twelfth century.

MacAdam is a sept name in the Clan MacGregor.

The Clan Aid, or MacAdie, is a branch of Gergusons.

Adamson, Ayson, Esson and MacKeggie, all of which are said to be derived from the given name of Adam, are septs of the Clan MacKintosh.

Tomorrow—Lawson.

HEALTH HINTS

HONEST SWEAT

An adult, clothed, excretes from one to three quarts of sweat daily. He need not be ashamed of it. It is done in our best interests.

The sweat is very thin (specific gravity about 1004) and is normally alkaline. The composition of the sweat is insignificant—it is practically nothing else than water. Traces of many different organic constituents have been found in sweat, such as urea, uric acid, indican and other ethereal sulphates of phenol and skatol, creatinin, oxyaminopropionic acid and a lot of ugly little things like that, but never mind—a glass of milk contains about nineteen million eight hundred thousand bacteria.

Arasten—not Nicky, but another man altogether—is an authority on sweat and sweating. He asserts that special nerves control the sweat glands, and impulses acting on the glands thru such nerves would account for sweating from emotion, various medicines and nausea. The ordinary cause of profuse sweating is high external temperature or muscular exercise.

The purpose of sweating is body cooling, not the elimination of poisonous matter.

A thousand and one remedies are employed for excessive sweating. For the armpits nothing is better than a mopping each day for three or four successive days with this solution:

Aluminum chloride 1-2 oz.
Distilled water 3 oz.

This should be allowed to dry on the skin before dressing. It may be repeated when required. Aluminum chloride is a standard chemical which any druggist can supply if he cares to accommodate a customer.

For overcoming excessive sweating of the feet, perhaps the best agent is:

Solution of Formaldehyde (U. S. P. 1 oz.
Water 1-2 pt.
(Formaldehyde is an irritant poison.

WARD IS MARRIED

Lima News Reporter Surprises His Many Friends.

Just before leaving for Beaumont, Texas, where he is to re-engage in newspaper work, W. W. Ward, reporter for The Lima News, surprised his friends here when he unexpectedly plunged into matrimony.

At noon Saturday he was married to Miss Zella Barre, a newspaperwoman of Jamestown, O., a former employe of The Lima News, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William L. Barlow, 124 S. Cole-st., by Dr. Walter D. Cole, pastor of Trinity M. E. church.

The marriage was kept a secret and his most intimate friends knew nothing of the happening until after the ceremony.

They left immediately for the bridegroom's home at Ripley, O., where they will remain until Sunday night when Mr. Ward will leave for Texas. His wife will remain in Jamestown until the first of the year. The bride's home is in Mt. Carmel, Ill.

CARDS OF THANKS

Words fail to express our appreciation for the kindness rendered in our great sorrow in the loss of our darling little Katheryn. All the neighbors, relatives and friends for the beautiful floral offering to numerous to mention. The singers for the comforting songs. Rev. Kelly for his comforting words. Those who offered their cars so generously and Chas. Siefert in the lovely way the funeral was conducted.

ANSWER IS FILED IN SUIT OVER HOG SALE

Charges that he made claims to Cyrus L. Burkholder, Beaverdam, that hogs he sold him were healthy and free from diseases, were denied in an answer to Burkholder's suit by Glen G. Blerly, in court Saturday. Burkholder, in his action for $750 damages, charged that Blerly, when he sold him the hogs, told him they were sound and free from disease. Within four days after their purchase, Burkholder says, one died and that during June and July he lost 13 of the 22 head he purchased.

The annual meeting of the American Red Cross will be held at the Auditorium of the Chamber of Commerce on Thursday, Nov. 11th, at 2 p. m.

LEAVES VALUABLE

Should Not Be Burned But Put on Garden.

Citizens of Lima are asked not to burn the leaves in their yards. To do so means to destroy the most valuable of fertilizing ingredients known to man-nitrogen.

Besides being the most valuable, nitrogen is the most expensive of fertilizing elements and most difficult to secure in commercial form. Flower gardens, rose bushes, strawberries, raspberries, fruit and even shade trees, should receive a mulch of leaves as they fall from the trees. Citizens are urged to not rake the mulch too high about the trunk of the trees, as rats and mice sometimes make nests in the leaves and during the winter, when food is scarce, gnaw the green bark for food.

If there is a great abundance of leaves, they should be raked, authorities say, on the garden this fall, any depth, and then turned in the spring. If this is continued each year, the garden will need little else for fertilizer, it is said.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to all our beloved neighbors and friends for their many acts of kindness during the illness and death of our darling son and brother, Bobby. For the beautiful flowers, to those who donated their autos, Rev. Baker for his comforting words, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Smith and children.

OPEN SEASON FOR FUR ANIMALS

Not Many Trappers Are Engaged in Taking Them

Despite the fact that the season has opened for the legal trapping of some of the fur-bearing animals, very few trappers are taking advantage of the opportunity. Raccoon hunting at night, with the aid of dogs is a favorite pastime with many and during the next few months the baying of coon hounds will break the monotony of the night.

Opossum, skunk and mink are also lawful game at the present time. The trapping of muskrat is not allowed yet, season on this animal opening December 1.

Some trapping licenses are being issued these days, but the townsfolk state that the big rush is still to come.

The large number of hunters are looking forward to the opening of the rabbit season November 15. Rabbits are reported to be plentiful this year and the opening of the season is expected to find many a hunter in the field in pursuit of the cottontail.

A list of the open seasons for various kinds of game is printed herewith. In all instances the dates given are included in the open seasons.

Phalaropes—Nov. 15th to Nov. 25th. Cook birds only. Limit: 3 in one day.

Ruffed Grouse—No. 15th to Nov. 25th. Limit: 3 in one day.

Hungarian Partridge—No. 15th to Nov. 25th. Limit: 6 in one day.

Ducks, Geese, Coot, Gallinules—Sept. 16th to Dec. 31st, both inclusive and any additional season granted by Federal regulations. Limit: Ducks, coots and gallinules: 25 in the aggregate of all kinds in any one day and not more than 8 geese or brant in the aggregate.

Shooting permitted any day in the week during the open season except Sunday from one-half hour before sunrise to sunset. Woodcock protected.

Woodcock—Oct. 1st to Nov. 30th. Limit: 6 in one day.

Rail—November 1 to Dec. 31st. Limit: 25 in one day in aggregate of all kinds. Sora: 35 in one day.

How To Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that carries iron. Nuxated Iron pills make Nuxated Iron like the iron in your blood and like the iron in spinach, fruit and apples. While metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings. Nuxated Iron does not irritate the stomach and the stomach is entirely different from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalizes wornout, exhausted nerves and gives you new strength and energy. Over 4,000,000 people annually are using it. Because of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine or Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I. on every tablet. Sold by all druggists.

Don't Neglect That Cough or Cold

A Home Remedy That Can Be Depended Upon

No one can afford to neglect a cough or cold. Neglect often causes serious results. The best time to doctor is when the first indications of a cough or cold appear. Coughing weakens the delicate membrane of the throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. This makes a fertile field for the development of germs. The cold, grip or tonsillitis germs should be killed before they have time to get imbedded into this delicate membrane. Get three ounces of Glando Pine. Mix this with enough syrup or honey to make a pint and you have a safe, sure and reliable remedy to use. It takes hold of a cough in a hurry. The first dose opens the air cells and makes you breathe deep and easy. Glando Pine is easily prepared. Directions accompany each bottle. It tastes well and can be given to young children.

Don't be careless, but begin today to safeguard yourself against coughs and colds. A dependable remedy at hand means a great deal to any family. Remember the name, Glando Pine. You can get it of your druggist, or it will be sent you by the Glando-Aid Co., Fort Wayne Ind.—Adv.

TWO CLEVELAND FAMILIES SAVED BY BARKING DOG

CLEVELAND — A barking dog saved the lives of members of two families early Saturday when flames destroyed the home of Joseph and David Waldman, brothers, on Wheelock-rd. The loss was estimated at $10,000.

GOLD COAST NEGROES NOW OWN AUTOMOBILES

LONDON — West African and Gold Coast negroes are rapidly making their fortunes. The increasing demand for cocoa gave them the opportunity to go into business and amass wealth.

More than 300 own their own motors and European-style houses costing more than $20,000 are being built by the more prosperous.

Altho there is hardly one of them who can sign his own name, dressing for dinner is now the fashion.

PROTESTS AGAINST CRUISE OF THE AMERICAN FLEETS

WASHINGTON — Representative Blanton, Democrat, Texas, made public Saturday an open letter to Secretary Daniels protesting against the announced cruise of the Atlantic and Pacific fleet next summer. The Atlantic fleet is to go to South America and Africa and the Pacific to Australia and New Zealand.

Mr. Blanton said congress had not authorized cruises and that naval statistics showed that "it would require at least 50 per cent more coal and oil than ordinary to run these two fleets on such a cruise."

DRUB WOLVERINES 14 TO 7 IN THEIR ANNUAL CLASH—SOUTH HI PLAYS WONDERFUL GAME BUT IS DEFEATED BY MT. CORY AGAINST LUCK

MICHIGAN TUMBLES BEFORE STRONG OHIO STATE

COLUMBUS.—Ohio State's big red team again wielding its last ditch wallops, defeated Michigan 14 to 7 here Saturday, and so climbed one rung nearer the western conference championship.

The fourth quarter opened with the score 7 all. The period was but a few minutes old when Captain Huffman of State crashed thru the Wolverine line, blocked a punt as it was leaving Steketee's toe and fell on the ball behind the Michigan goal line for the winning touchdown.

Stinchcomb kicked goal, and the game was won. The defensive work of both teams tried the aerial route, with varying success. A 22-yard pass in the second quarter, Hohe Workman to his brother Noel, who had replaced Slyker at right end for State early in the contest, paved the way for the buckeye's first score. It placed the ball on Michigan's three-yard line, from where Henderson bucked it over.

Michigan's lone touchdown came early in the second period. Ohio disregarded a fair chance signal by Dunn on her own 35-yard line, and was penalized 18 yards. A series of line clashes put the ball on the Ohioans' four-yard line. Dunn crashed thru center for a touchdown and Steketee kicked goal.

Steketee was the offensive star for the Wolverines, his 29-yard drive around right end in the first quarter being the most spectacular run of the game. The Workman brothers, Hohe and Noel, Captain Huffman and Stinchcomb, were the Buckeye luminaries.

HARVARD AND TIGERS BATTLE TO A DRAW IN ANNUAL CLASH

BY HENRY L. FARRELL.
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

BOSTON.—In the gray shadows of the Cambridge stadium Saturday afternoon, Harvard and Princeton dragged a skeleton of a game from last year's closet.

History of 1919 repeated itself when the Tiger and Crimson battled to a 14-14 tie in the opening game of the "big three" classic.

Forty thousand spectators saw the lightning Nassau Tiger thrown from the broad crimson back of Harvard in the dying minutes of a thrilling game.

Princeton, entering the game the "uncut dog," just as in last year's battle, had but five minutes between them and the first victory over Harvard in ten years.

The spirits in the Harvard fans accompanied the temperature in its downward flight. Thrown into raptures by a touchdown in the first ten minutes of play the Crimson followers were as bright as a warm late autumn sun of a perfect day that beat down on the field.

The sun set and Harvard's hopes sank with it. Huddled three and a half minutes later, the Crimson stands were cold, not so much from the chilly north wind, as from the fear that their championship hopes were gone.

THE TIDE TURNS
Young Mr. Buell, a husky youngster who throws with the speed and accuracy of a baseball player, then entered the game and the tide turned. He threw three long for a pass into a pair of Crimson arms and defeat was averted. Harvard was satisfied with a tie.

It was a brilliant game with all the thrills of a dog fight. The stands were in a continuous uproar. Harvard started out with a rush that scored a touchdown in the first ten minutes of play. The first tally was partially a gift. Two heavy penalties for holding and "piling on" with some brilliant running by Owen brought the ball to Princeton's two-yard line, where Captain Horwath carried it over.

TIGERS SCRAP HARDER

The fighting heart of the Tiger then asserted itself. Hank Garrity shattered the Crimson line and took the ball down the field. Two forward passes from Scheerer and Louie seemed to demoralize Harvard. Then Louie tumbled on Harvard's 20-yard line and Woods fell on it. Owen punted out and Garrity, almost single-handed, rushed the ball back to mid-field, where Keck tried for a field goal. The kick was blocked, but Princeton recovered Harvard was penalized for holding, bringing the ball to her 12-yard line where the first quarter ended.

Louie threw a pass behind Harvard's goal line in the opening of the second quarter, but it was knocked down by Horwath for a touchback and Princeton lost her chance to score.

The second period was fought in mid-field, and consisted mostly of a punting duel and an exhibition by Owen Garrity of fancy running.

SCORE IS TIED
Princeton tied the score in the third quarter. After battling up and down between the 20-yard lines, Frank Murray drop kicking hero of the Yale and Harvard game last year, got a pass away to Louie Louie, who ran 25 yards thru the whole Harvard team for a touchdown.

DEFEAT RAPS CORNELL A HARD ONE

NEW YORK.—Displaying a powerful attack and a stonewall defense, Dartmouth staved a come-back Saturday by winning easily from Gil Dole's Cornell eleven, by a score of 14 to 7. Fumbles and penalties were all that prevented the Green team from running up at least two more touchdowns and when the contest came to an end the men from Hanover were sweeping down the field at will.

Captain Robertson, in the Green line-up for the first time in several weeks, once more proved himself of all-American calibre.

Robertson early showed splendid strategy, when he resorted to a kicking game, at which he was far superior to Carey, the Cornell punter, and succeeded in forcing the ball far into Cornell's territory.

EXCITING PLAY
Then, with the ball on Cornell's 75-yard line, Robertson from a kick formation, dodged thru the entire Cornell team for the first Green score.

Cornell scored in the second period, after Mayer made a run of 25 yards from a fake kick, putting the ball in Dartmouth territory for the first time.

From the 45-yard line, Carey booted the ball over the goal for Cornell's lone score. Dartmouth played a punting game in the third period, which ended with the ball in Cornell's possession on her own five-yard line. Here, at the opening of the fourth period, Sheburne, the big Dartmouth fullback, blocked Carey's punt and recovered for the Green, forcing the ball over for Dartmouth's second touchdown.

During the remainder of the game Dartmouth smashed thru Cornell's line at will, but was prevented from scoring by penalties.

TIGERS

Owen stepped back as if to kick, but tossed another pass to Fitts for 15 yards. Buell then dodged and side-stepped two Tigers until Crocker was well behind the Princeton goal line when he hurled the ball into his arms.

The remainder of the game was a see-saw contest up and down the middle of the field.

Garrity and Louie distinguished themselves on the Tiger offense, while Gilroy gave one of the best exhibitions of defensive play ever seen in the stadium.

Owen shone with particular brilliance for Harvard.

Both teams showed ability with the forward pass. Harvard completed six out of ten attempts, while Princeton made five good out of ten. Harvard gained 85 yards by the air route, and Princeton 83.

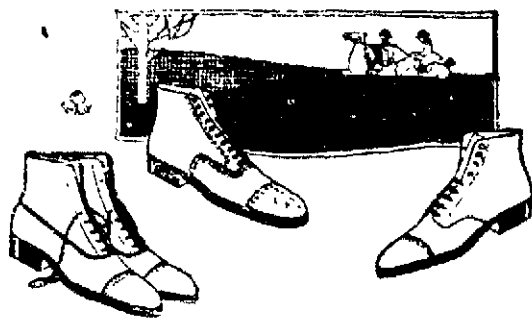

Contrary to expectations, Princeton outscored Harvard, gaining 334 yards to the Crimson's 268.

The line-up:

HARVARD
Kane I. c. ... Legendre
Hubbard I. t. ... Keck
Woods I. g. ... McManmon
Meyer c. ... Callahan
Tolbert r. e. ... Dickinson
Faxon r. t. ... Hopper

SYRACUSE WINS FAST GAME

SYRACUSE, N. Y.—Syracuse defeated Washington and Jefferson here Saturday 14 to 0.

The first two periods were devoted to see-sawing over the field with neither team able to gain a decisive position. Early in the third period Anderson, Syracuse right halfback, started a series of plunges thru center and carried the ball over for a touchdown. Abbott kicked goal.

Line plunges by Abbott and Anderson scored a second touchdown in the same period. The final quarter was played largely in Washington and Jefferson territory.

SOUTH PLAYER IS INJURED

Clyde Miller, center on South Hi's football squad, suffered a broken collar bone in the game with Mt. Cory on College Field when he collided with another player.

At the time he was carried from the field it was not thought he had suffered serious injury, but after the game had ended an examination revealed that it had been fractured badly.

A physician was called and reset the bone.

Miller will probably be out of all games remaining on South Hi's schedule this season.

He was a good man on the team and Coach Jackson feels that his absence will weaken his outfit considerably.

OBERLIN WINS GAME FROM RESERVE

CLEVELAND.—Oberlin downed Reserve 20 to 14 after a hard struggle, in which Reserve showed unexpected strength. Reserve has been playing the under dog all season and the dope pointed to a walkaway. Oberlin went into the fourth quarter one point behind and pulled victory out of apparent defeat.

Both teams scored in the second quarter. Cathcart threw a long forward pass to Fulton, who caught it on Oberlin's five-yard line. Cathcart took the ball over in two line bucks and Fulton kicked goal.

The visitors uncorked some fine forward passing. Oberlin lost the ball, but got it back on Reserve's 30-yard line. On a fake play Wheeler ran 20 yards for a touchdown and Thorpe kicked goal.

In the early part of the third quarter Reserve scored when Bard scooped up the ball on Oberlin's 25-yard line and carried it over for a touchdown. Fulton kicked goal.

Oberlin uncorked a forward pass and some fine line bucking, taking the ball from mid-field to Reserve's 12-yard line. Taylor went thru tackle for a touchdown. Parkhill failed to kick goal.

In the fourth quarter, Oberlin sewed up the game by making another touchdown and kicking goal. A forward pass and line bucking took the ball to within one foot of Reserve's goal line. Wheeler went over and Parkhill kicked goal.

BROWN FAILS TO DEFEAT OLD RIVAL

NEW HAVEN, Conn.—Yale came from behind twice Saturday in the game with Brown and finally beat the Providence men 14 to 10.

The game was brilliant from the start to the final whistle. The punch uncovered in the final quarter with defeat staring the Elis in the face, was a reminder of bygone Yale days.

Brown scored in the second quarter following two perfectly executed plays of the aerial type. The first, a lateral pass from Oden to Williams, netted 15 yards, placing the pigskin on the 25-yard line. A moment later a forward pass from Moody to Albright landed the ball on Yale's five-yard from which point Oden took it over for a score. Armstrong kicked goal.

YALE RIGHT BACK
Yale came right back after Dilworth had blocked one of Armstrong's punts on the five-yard line. Three thrusts thru the Brown line resulted in a touchdown. Kelly putting the ball over. Murphy tied the score with a goal.

In the third quarter Armstrong kicked a goal from the 27-yard line and sent Brown's score up to 10. When the final quarter opened Yale began a wonderful attack. The ball was worked to the three-yard line, but Brown held. Armstrong kicked out to Murphy, who ran back to the 30-yard line. A moment later Murphy shot a forward pass to Sturm who raced to the three-yard line before he was thrown. In two plunges Kelly took it over for the score that won the game.

CHICAGO NOSED OUT OF 3 TO 0 BATTLE BY ILLINI TEAM

CHICAGO.—Illinois stayed in the conference race by defeating Chicago in a hard-fought battle on Stagg Field here Saturday by a score of 3 to 0.

The Maroons played a great game defensively. Due to injuries to Chicago's best men, Illinois was doped to walk away with the game by several touchdowns. In the final period, the Maroons stopped an Illinois drive on their three-yard line. Ralph Fletcher, Illinois halfback, made the only score of the game in the second quarter.

Illinois brought the ball to within 20 yards of Chicago's goal, but failed on line plunges. R. Fletcher then dropped back to the 30-yard line and booted the ball over on a drop kick. The pigskin struck the cross-bar between the goal posts, faltered an instant, and then rolled over for the score.

Chicago, the Illinois crack, made great holes in the Maroon defensive, several times breaking thru for first downs and once making 25 yards thru the center. The Illinois offensive play was not up to expectations. Alto several passes went for 20 and 30 yards, the majority of them were grounded or intercepted. Chicago's attempts at the Illinois line met with a stone wall.

OFFICIAL FIGURES OF ELECTION

Harding's Plurality Reduced,
Donahay's Increased.

WINNERS REMAIN THE SAME

Board Elections Completes Big Task on Saturday.

Official figures on the result of the Tuesday election in Allen-co, the compilation of which was completed Saturday, show changes in the number of votes cast for nearly every candidate, as compared with the unofficial figures, published previously, but the new figures do not change the identity of the winners.

The only additional interest that attaches to the official figures, as compared with the unofficial, is their value for future reference. The official figures reduce the Harding majority in Allen-co and increase the Donahay majority. The official results:

EBERLE BELIEVES IN GETTING EARLY START

Desk Sergeant Frank Eberle is giving his old 16-gauge the up and down preparatory to the opening of hunting season, November 15. Sergeant Eberle has that date booked up years ahead of time, and is always off then.

When asked why he likes to hunt on the opening day, Eberle replied: "You get a chance at 'em before some of these amateur nimmers are 'em all away. All you gotta do on the first day is kick 'em out the bush, let 'em get about 100 feet away from you and then shoot and watch 'em jump and double back. And, boy, I'm in rare form this season."

WARNING ISSUED BY DR. SUTTER

Health Commissioner Seeks to Prevent Communicable Disease

Pupils in the school room afflicted with sneezing, sore throat, fever, ache, pain, drowsiness, running nose, watery eyes, vomiting, cough, headache, chills, cheeks flushed or pallid, rash spots of any kind, are expected to be observed by the teachers. They are told in a circular by Dr. J. J. Sutter, Allen-co health commissioner, dealing with "What Teachers Should Know About Communicable Diseases."

The symptoms enumerated above are characterized as the principal signs of the beginning of an attack of communicable disease and the health department has ruled that suspicious cases should be required to have a certificate of non-communicable disease before entering school.

Attention is called to the fact that diphtheria has been especially prevalent this year in some parts of Ohio and while Lima and Allen-co have been free of the disease so far, it may reach us and the death rate will likely be high if it does. Active cooperation on the part of the school teachers is solicited to prevent deaths, as there is now a complete defense against diphtheria.

Antitoxin is the early treatment for diphtheria and is furnished free by the health department to all suffering from the disease. The second agency of control, Dr. Sutter states, is the more extensive discovery in each community of children who are especially susceptible to diphtheria infection. This is accomplished through the Schick test. All susceptible persons are made immune. Dr. Sutter assures, with the protective injections similar to those which have proven so successful against typhoid fever.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS WILL MEET ON TUESDAY

The regular meeting and smoker of Lima council, Knights of Columbus, will be held Tuesday in the lodge room, Knights of Columbus building.

Hon. J. P. Maher, Greenville, will address the meeting. L. H. Wessal, one of the members, will sing. Poets have appeared previously before the order and will be welcomed again.

R. W. Shanahan is grand knight and Frank Clifford, secretary, both of whom urge a large attendance of members.

SECRETARY WILL BE NAMED

Chamber of Commerce Officials
Decline to Announce Name.

MANY APPLICATIONS ON FILE

Arrangements Made for Big Meeting Thursday Evening.

Officials of the Lima Chamber of Commerce will appoint a secretary to succeed Irvin B. Lincoln, Monday. This statement was given out Saturday afternoon by Austin Potter, treasurer of the organization. Lincoln's resignation becomes effective, November 19.

Potter refused to divulge the name of the person who is likely to be appointed. It is understood, however, that several applicants for the position. Lincoln's successor will be chosen from these. Potter stated. Arrangements are being made to take care of an extremely large gathering at the regular forum supper Thursday evening. This affair will be held in the High School Cafeteria at 6:30 o'clock. Special invitations have been extended to the newly organized Fellowship League. ROGERS TO SPEAK

Hon. Sherman Rogers, editor of "The Outlook," will be the principal speaker of the meeting. Rogers will talk on "Relations Between Capital and Labor."

Another speaker of note will be Hon. Harry White. White has gained prominence as a world wide traveler, and has visited practically every country on the globe. His talk will center around "America's Opportunity Abroad." White only recently returned from Europe. Officials of the chamber declare he is well versed upon the subject.

WOMEN NOW SEEK NATURALIZATION

Many Seek Papers Since Vote is Given Them

The enfranchisement of women and the knowledge they can not vote unless naturalized, is causing women of foreign birth to rush to the courts to start first papers in naturalization.

Within the past two weeks there have been many women visit the office of County Clerk of Courts Ira F. Clem to secure information concerning the necessary procedure.

Two women filed first papers in naturalization Friday afternoon. They were Miss Ada Paulding, 28, cigar-maker, 717 E. Third-st and Elizabeth Eckersley, 40, 516 N. Elizabeth-st. The latter was born in Manchester, England, and came to the United States by way of New York in November, 1911.

Miss Paulding was born in Bolton, England, and came to the United States by way of Boston in May, 1912.

JUDGE BAGGOT, DAYTON, TO ADDRESS LIMA ELKS

Officers of Lima Lodge of Elks announce that Judge Roland Baggot of Dayton, will address the members of the lodge at the regular lodge session, Thursday evening, November 11. J. T. Kaufman, the Elected Ruler of Lima Lodge, having been appointed District Deputy Grand Elected Ruler, with jurisdiction over the northwestern Ohio territory, is arranging his schedule of official visits to other lodges so that they will not interfere with meeting dates of Lima Lodge.

PEPPY FEATURES FOR KIWANIS

Visitors Coming From Sidney and Bellefontaine Tuesday.

Delegations of live wires from Bellefontaine and Sidney will visit Lima Kiwanians at their noonday luncheon, Tuesday, and there will be special features of various kinds.

Eugene T. Lippincott, Wallace Landis and W. E. McGowan, Sr., compose the personnel of the committee in charge. As a special observance of Armistice Day week, R. R. Trubey will deliver an address on "Americanization and the Constitution of the United States." Special music is to be made a feature, under the direction of "Iwanick."

Mayor H. K. Forsyth, Safety Director Howard Vertner, Attorney Andy Hess, George Quatman and W. E. Whipp will be among a total of ten visitors from Sidney, who will come to Lima Kiwanians to secure pointers on how to proceed with the organization of a club in the Shelby-co city. The Sidney visitors are coming upon the invitation of E. A. Siferd and Dr. Clark.

Another delegation, from Bellefontaine, responding to an invitation extended by Mayor F. A. Burkhardt, will also attend the luncheon. A club is to be organized in the Logan-co city and the Bellefontaine visitors are after information.

Joe Hartline's committee is expected to report details of arrangements for Kiwanis to serve a luncheon for 800 Olden Y. M. C. A. Boys who will hold a convention in Lima. Thanksgiving week. Ways and means to take care of this feature are being worked out.

ORDERS ON LEAVES

Street superintendent Zartman has ordered that all leaves be raked from the yards and piled into the street before November 11th. After that date persons piling leaves in the street will be liable to a fine or will be compelled to take the leaves from the street.

NURSES ARE SENT TO SALEM

Clinic for Crippled Children Will Be Held Tuesday.

ROLL CALL OPENS MONDAY

Members to Be Sought By Mercy Agency.

Value of the nursing division of the Red Cross in peace times was shown Friday, when, in response to a telephone call for help from Cleveland, five nurses from City hospital were sent to Salem, Ohio, where an epidemic of typhoid fever is raging.

Young women who volunteered their services were the Misses Patricia Thomas, Leola Nierdlich, Estella Carr, Koneta Schaeffer and Addie Johnson.

Red Cross officials, nurses and physicians throughout the county, through assistance lent by the Lima Rotary club, have established a clinic for crippled children. Twenty little cripples will be treated at the first of the two clinics announced for next Tuesday afternoon and evening.

Dr. Ridland, eminent Chicago authority, will come to Lima to assist and counsel with Drs. C. D. Gamble, J. B. Poling and J. R. Tilton. Physicians will be assisted by Mrs. Ethel Montague Miller, the Misses Maria Mueller, supervisor, Etta Mueller, Marian Foote and Miss Deyell. Crippled patients will be treated to supper at the Elks' home before they return home. Local physicians will attend the clinic.

Next week marks the beginning of the annual campaign for members, being the fourth roll call. It will continue until Thanksgiving.

Five classes of memberships are taken, as follows: Annual, $1; contributing, $5; sustaining, $10; life, $50, and patron, $100.

FREE PICTURE SHOW FOR THE EAST SIDE

Residents of the East Side will be treated to a free moving picture show Thursday night. This announcement was made Saturday afternoon by Captain Bert Wilcox, head of the East Side Welfare association. The entertainment will be a welfare association to offer some hold in the Lincoln Park fire station.

Efforts are being made by the reform of entertainment to the east side every Thursday night. In this manner a crowd of interested citizens is always gathered, Wilcox declared.

MILITARY FUNERAL FOR JOHN BICKEL, WHO DIED IN HOSPITAL AT BREST

Members of Paul Gallagher Post, No. 96, American Legion, are urged to attend the funeral of John Bickel, who died last November in Brest, France, and who will be given a military burial Sunday afternoon. Bickel's body arrived at the home of his mother, Mrs. Libbie Edinger, 104 E. Fourth-st. The funeral will be conducted from the home of his mother.

Post Commander Sinks Saturday stated Legion members should be present at the home at 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon. From there the body will be taken to Grace M. E. church. Burial will be in the Grider's cemetery.

Bickel was a member of Co. H, 166th Infantry. He went to France with the Rainbow Division. Early in November, he was reported missing. Later he was located in a hospital in Brest. He had contracted pneumonia from which he died November 26.

He leaves two children. His wife died several years ago.

PARK PETS GIVEN WARM QUARTERS

Zartman Prepares for Winter—
Improvements Are Made.

Joeko, the monk; Baldy, the eagle, and all other members of Park of Park zoo have been placed in warm quarters preparatory to the arrival of winter. Claud Zartman, superintendent of parks here, has spent the last week getting his varied lot of pets in their winter quarters, he stated Saturday.

New winter quarters have been provided for the lot. Zartman announced. One new feature is all fur bearing animals have been given outdoor homes for the winter. The birds, alligators and other members unable to stand winter will be given warmer quarters.

Charles-st and State-st entrances to the park are being graded, Zartman announced. During the summer just gone, it is estimated more persons visited Fawcett park than in any other single season. Because of the vast number of automobiles which were driven through the park, it is necessary to repair practically every thoroughfare. New bridge paths are also being made. These will be completed within the next few weeks, Zartman stated.

Hardy, Easter plants are being reset. New shrubs are being planted in both Fawcett and Lincoln parks. This is the first fall that Easter flowers have been planted in the parks here.

TRAINMEN FORGET DULL CARE

Big Fair Opens for Week at Memorial Hall.

BOOTHS ARE ATTRACTIVE

Dancing to Be Feature—Elaborate
Plans Made.

Orders were forgotten, bells changed in vain and the lights showed up "white," Saturday night, when members of Lima Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen danced at Memorial hall.

It was the opening night of the fair and bazaar given by Lima trainmen. The bazaar will last until next Saturday night, when it will close with a grand ball.

The hall has been converted into a miniature midway, with artistic booths about the auditorium. Crowds packed the hall until midnight.

Tracy's jazz orchestra, Cincinnati, has been secured for the week and dancing will be one of the features every night.

The national colors are used in abundance in the decorations. Pennants decorate the center above the dance floor and the red, white and blue is used at every vantage point. The word "Welcome" in large letters on the stage, indicates the feeling of good fellowship which prevailed.

Monday night will be given over to the Young Women's Christian Association; Tuesday evening to the Knights of Columbus; Wednesday night to the Elks; Thursday night to the American Legion; Friday night to the Moose and Saturday night to the Eagles.

On those particular nights members of the fraternal orders will be especially welcomed, along with all others who wish to attend. All ex-soldiers and sailors will be cordially welcomed on Thursday night.

The committee in charge of the bazaar includes Lawrence Long, executive chairman; I. F. Sanders, president; John Sweeney, secretary; G. L. Sanders, treasurer; C. L. Weaver and W. L. Hartzog.

BEES SWARM IN CHURCH

Fat That Shows Soon Disappears

Prominent fat that comes and goes when it is not needed is a burden, a hindrance to activity, and a curb upon pleasure. Many forms of dieting have been advanced, such as dieting, hard work, excessive exercise, etc., all of which are either useless or dangerous.

The latest, more modern and pleasant way to make of burdensome fat, is to take, after each meal and at bedtime, a Marmola Tablet. These little tablets are as effective and harmless as the famous Marmola Prescription from which they take their name.

To get rid of fat at the rate of two, three or four pounds a week, simply take one of these little tablets after each meal, and at bedtime until you have reduced your weight to where you want it. No wrinkles or cellulite will remain to show where the fat came off.

The fat for sale by all druggists at $1 for a box of 10. If you prefer to have them sent to you direct by mail, prepaid, in plain sealed covers, send amount to The Marmola Co., 97 Gould Building, Detroit, Mich., and bid goodbye to dieting, exercise and fat. Be yourself, slim, trim and attractive.

The Corsetless Fad and Its Results

It is one of the characteristics of human nature to look back upon what might have been.

Many women whose figures were victims of the more or less recent fad of going without corsets are now looking back upon this practice with considerable regret.

Their figures are beginning to show the results of being unsupported over a period of time. They have lost or are losing their graceful lines.

To properly treat and correct figure lines that have been lost has been the subject of exhaustive study by the designers of the MODART Corset.

MODART CORSETS Front Laced

The proper fitting and wearing of MODART Corsets will show immediate figure improvement and in a reasonable short time will bring back those graceful lines which have been lost.

We have recently received a shipment of Fall models in MODART Corsets and we suggest that you let our expert corsetiers help you in the selection of a model especially adapted for your particular figure requirements.

MISS ARTHUR MAY APPEAR AGAIN

Rialto Stirred Over Report Concerning Noted Actress

STAGE NOW IN NEED OF HER

Mann Closes Engagement — News of N. Y. Theaters

(By Frederick F. Schrader)

NEW YORK—The Rialto is discussing the prospective return to the stage of Miss Julia Arthur with considerable satisfaction. The only sting in this state of feeling is that her return is not wholly voluntary but owing to financial misfortunes which have overtaken her husband. In private life Miss Arthur is Mrs. Benjamin Pierce Cheney of Boston, her husband once being rated as one of the Hub's wealthiest men.

The present-day stage needs Miss Arthur. It needs others like her. There has been a gradual decline in the character of the personnel for a succession of years. Little has been done to fill the gaps in the ranks of the better class of actors who learned their art in the hard school of experience when there were definite standards.

The decline dates from the time that managers began to place their trust in personalities rather than in system. It was so easy to promote an attractive young person who had scored a fair success in a part to stellar honors, but in the long run it was found that most of them had difficulty in sustaining themselves in the position to which they had been suddenly transferred. The public began to see thru the veneer and look for the pit. It was a good thing for those playwrights who take the measure of a star and fit the play to his limitations like a tailor-made garment. It incidentally led to the practice of producing plays of indiscriminate merit, which eventually proved unprofitable.

The thinking element of the theatrical world in New York recognizes the fact that something must be done to give more stability to the stage if it is to fulfill its mission as an agency of civilization as distinguished from a mere place of mental dissipation. There is much talk of giving encouragement to the better class of actors. Many of them are in retirement because they have felt slighted, and many very gifted players have had to content themselves with taking subordinate parts to actors much their inferiors. Quite a contingent has left the stage to engage in business; the few have much about the field being overcrowded, managers have experienced some difficulty in filling parts that require something more than a

Priscilla Dean in the Universal-Jewel Master Production "The Virgin of Stamboul"

"good front." The situation has to some extent been relieved by the large influx of English actors, and it is no uncommon thing to hear a rich Piccadilly dialect fall from the lips of a character with a decided Yankee psychology.

That actors lead long lives is illustrated by an event reported from Chicago recently, when two players met at a performance of "Abraham Lincoln" who were members of the profession at the outbreak of the civil war, fifty-nine years ago. They were W. J. Ferguson and Mrs. Kathryn Evans, both of whom were on the stage of Ford's Theater in Washington the night that President Lincoln fell a victim to the assassin's bullet.

Louis Mann in "The Unwritten Chapter" at the Astor is announced to close his engagement Saturday night, ending a remarkably short run for a play with a star usually assured of a loyal following. The reason is generally attributed to the radical departure of Mr. Mann from a line of parts in which he made his reputation. When he undertook to put his popularity as a Dutch comedian to the test by taking the part of the Jewish patriot, abandoning his dialect and clothing himself in the sober colors of the revolutionary period, he made the same mistake that was made by the late Nat Goodwin in changing from modern comedy to Shakespeare's "Merchant of Venice." The American public will rarely accept a comedian in tragedy, and paths from lips accustomed to "speak 'funny lines'" becomes bathos. Evidently a good deal of reliance was placed by the star on the support likely to be given a play with a Jewish hero by the large number of Jews in New York. There are half a dozen Yiddish theatres which take care of this clientele, and a play must have something more than a race appeal to weather the hard and fast standard of judgment which prevails on Broadway. Mann's place will be taken Monday evening by "Kissing Time," which is transferred from the Lyric.

The American production of Max Halbe's "Youth" at the Greenwich Village Theater is not proving the attraction expected. The play is a typical product of the pessimistic period of the German stage preceding the war and is presented in English fifteen or more years too late. Twenty-seven years have elapsed since Heinrich Conrad first presented it at the Irving Place Theater. It may have had a certain timeliness then in fact, it was played in French and Italian, but the morbid studies of character which had a vogue at that time have lost interest to people uninfected with actual dissection. It is a blunt pathological dissection of love in youth, requiring a different conception of soul conditions from those understood on this side of the waters.

Frank Craven has aimed well and hit safe in his comic tragedy of married life which he has entitled "The First Year" in the matrimonial calendar Mr. Craven who is both the author and the leading actor in the comedy, seems to consider the first year the critical period. It is during that time that the husband is expected to make good and the wife is supposed to fit herself accordingly to her spouse's income and idiosyncrasies. He married a girl who is "train crazy." She has been brought up in the harem circle of a home in Reading, Ill. with an overpowering ambition to travel. They travel all the way to Joplin, Mo., which is not Paris. But the affectionate young real estate husband has it all planned. He is going to take her to Paris as soon as he puts thru a promising railroad deal. The plot is almost spoiled by the turning up of a dashing former suitor, but Tucker makes the deal and cashes the money. That is after Grace has left him and gone to her mother in a huff. Thru the intervention of an old uncle who is a doctor, the first year of marriage is brought to a happy conclusion in spite of the quarrel, and she will get her heart's desire to see that beautiful Paris.

The story is a minor matter. It is quite proper and characteristic, so far as it goes. What really counts is the admirable manner in which the subject is presented, the convincing character of the situations, the naturalness of the people concerned. It evokes a spirit of enjoyment; the characters strike a certain note of intimacy with the audience, and there is simple homeliness about the very atmosphere that radiates over the footlights, proving how much influence good acting has on the problem of success or failure.

The play of "Old Heidelberg" has a reminiscence of two in a comedy presented at Henry Miller's Theater this week under the title of "Just Suppose," by A. E. Thomas. The Prince of Wales travels incognito under his guardian and falls in love with a Virginia girl of aristocratic lineage. The complication results in a very satisfactory entertainment, in which there are smiles and tears and much cleverness on the part of the author as well as on the part of the actors. It does not enter quite so searchingly into the innermost folds of the heart as the love affair of the Prince and the little Heidelberg girl, but it is generously sentimental and very interesting withal. Geoffrey Kerr, who plays the Prince, was specially imported from London for the part and made a favorable impression. The Virginia girl is excellently played by Patricia Collinge, and the first nighters were delighted to greet Mrs. Thomas Whitten, now one of the oldest actresses on the stage in the part of the girl's mother.

At the Liberty Joseph Cawthorn made his first appearance this season in a musical comedy, "The Half Moon," which pleased a large first-night audience. Cawthorn, like Louis Mann, has discarded his Dutch dialect, so that you had some difficulty in identifying him at first sight, but he managed to overcome his handicap without disturbing the artistic balance of power. The book is by William Le Baron, music by Victor Jacoby. The piece is attractively staged and the cast includes among others well known, Joseph Santley with his dances.

At the Booth, William Faversham began his engagement under promising auspices in "The Prince and the Pauper." The latest adaptation of Mark Twain's story is based on Abbey Sage Richardson's version of many years ago by Amelia Rives. The earlier work had Miss Edile Leslie for its hero. The part is excellently played by Miss Ruth Findlay. Faversham acts the bluff and honest soldier of fortune, Miles Hendon. The performance was well received.

There is talk of reviving "The Chocolate Soldier," which netted F. C. Whitney nearly a million dollars in profit about ten years ago and which is still one of the most precious remembrances of those who like comic opera. The success of the piece in America, where at one time it was played by six companies, was duplicate in England, where one company sang it for upward of a year in London while another was presenting it in the provinces.

Meanwhile Francis Wilson continues his activities to produce a big revival of "Erminie" at an early date. Another member of the original cast has been found to take part in the revival. It was Jennie Weatherly who created the eccentric part of the Princess de Grandpierre, in which she will be seen again, bringing her back to the footlights after her long retirement.

Popular Form of Entertainment

WEEK'S PROGRAM OUTLINED

Top Notch Stars For Lima Theatres Are Announced

SURPASSING in entertaining qualities any program that has been seen for weeks at local picture houses, the bill announced by theatre-managers to be shown this week contains numerous new films, with popular favorites in the leading roles.

With the approach of the winter season, the popular form of entertainment for the whole family, from the baby on up, is the movies and a very pleasant afternoon or evening can be spent at any of our local playhouses, where good music is paramount, and the very latest and best in pictures is always shown.

Foremost of importance in the week's forecast is Carl Laemmle's "The Virgin of Stamboul," an Oriental spectacle with Priscilla Dean in the leading role. This feature opens a four-day engagement today at the Lyric theatre.

The Regent's program contains two splendid films. The first, "The Man Who Had Everything," stars Jack Pickford, Priscilla Dean and a new recruit from the Follies, Miss Shannon Day. This production opens today at the Regent.

"Peaceful Valley," a First National attraction, comes to the Regent the last four days of the week. Charles Ray, whose "rube" roles are so well liked, has the star role and is supported by a splendid cast.

Louise Glum, one of the better known vamps of the screen, comes to the Sigma this week in "The Leopard Woman." The title itself is descriptive of the role. Miss Glum has in this production, as usual, the wears many startling and unusual gowns.

"The Broadway Bubble," starting today at the Sigma, gives Corinne Griffith a dual role, that of a butterfly girl, who is sadly stage-struck, and also the role of a dutiful wife. Miss Griffith gives a most finished performance and her supporting cast is well-chosen.

J. Warren Kerrigan comes to the Lyric the last three days of the week in "The House of Whispers."

A tale of mystery and spiritualism in "Love Without Question," the feature attraction appearing today at the Majestic. Olive Tell plays the part of the heroine and is charming.

Clara Kimball Young plays opposite Eugene O'Brien in "The Rise of Susan," which opens a two-day engagement Friday at the Majestic theatre.

The Rialto's program is splendid for the entire week, including Harry Carey's newest picture "Human Stuff" and a Wally Reid comedy drama.

"THE VIRGIN OF STAMBOUL"
The color of passion, the luxury and poverty of that part of Constantinople, known as Stamboul, are clearly visualized in the spectacle "The Virgin of Stamboul," which opens a four-day engagement today at the Lyric theatre.

Priscilla Dean impersonates a beautiful beggar girl, an unveiled seeker of alms in the streets, whose character has remained clean and who has been named the "virgin" of Stamboul. A young American soldier meets and falls in love with her, but thru circumstances is led to believe she is a murderer.

An atmosphere of gorgeousness and decorative is evident thru-out the production. Magnificent robes and backgrounds are a feature and Miss Dean as the leading character is splendid.

With so much to its credit "The Virgin of Stamboul" should be favorably received here.

"THE MAN WHO HAD EVERYTHING"

The novel means taken by a wealthy rather to make a man of his spoiled son is the theme of Jack Pickford's new picture "The Man Who Had Everything," which is appearing today at the Regent.

Instead of the usual procedure of throwing a son out of his own resources, father gives his spoiled son (Jack Pickford) everything he wants—from a prize bull dog and fancy racing car, to his permission to wed a young lady of doubtful reputation, with whom Harry thinks he is in love.

But, just as father hoped, the boy became disgusted with things he could get so easily and announced that he would get a job. And incidentally he finds true love, in the form of Dad's secretary, who has loved him all the time, but he was too blind to see it.

"The Man Who Had Everything" has a splendid cast, including, be-

Charles Ray in
"Peaceful Valley"

Starting next Wednesday at the Regent.

Movie Directory

AT THE REGENT
Today, Monday and Tuesday, Jack Pickford in "The Man Who Had Everything." Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Charles Ray in "Peaceful Valley."

AT THE LYRIC
Today, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Priscilla Dean in "The Virgin of Stamboul," a special feature. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, J. Warren Kerrigan in "The House of Whispers."

AT THE SIGMA
Today and Monday, Corinne Griffith in "The Broadway Bubble." Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Louise Glum in "The Leopard Woman." Friday and Saturday, William Russell in "Shod With Fire."

AT THE MAJESTIC
Today and Monday, Olive Tell in "Love Without Question." Tuesday and Wednesday, Billie Burke in "Good Gracious Annabelle." Thursday, "Moonshine Trail" with an all-star cast. Friday and Saturday, Clara K. Young in "The Rise of Susan."

AT THE RIALTO
Today and Monday, Frank Mayo in "The Red Light." Tuesday and Wednesday, Wallace Reid in "Lucky Mad." Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Harry Carey in "Human Stuff."

We are again warned not to overeat. But the fact of the matter is, that it requires positive genius to provide the necessary means to indulge in this pastime. The man with ordinary brain power can't do it to shorten his life or to save his life.

The picture, however, has a competent cast and a likable story. From those who have a liking for the spiritual and unusual. It's showing today and tomorrow at the Majestic.

"GENTLEMAN JIMMIE" BRITT

Classy Program Outlined for Lima Vaudeville House

DIRECT from a tour of the U. S. Keith circuit, Louis Hart & Co. come to the Orpheum theatre at the matinee this afternoon, when there will be a complete change of program as the headlines of vaudeville bill will set ever before presented upon the six big-time acts for the first time.

CORINNE GRIFFITH
"THE BROADWAY BUBBLE"

Appearing Today at The Sigma.

Act for act, the new program starting at the Market street playhouse today, is expected to prove one of the most varied in form of amusement models offered and one of the most pleasing in point of quality, ever presented at the Orpheum. It is said that every element of entertainment mirth and edification, novelty, pathos, is contained in the program of half a dozen splendid attractions.

In addition to Louis Hart & Co. another big feature on the program will be Jimmie Britt, former light-weight champion pugilist of the world. "Gentleman Jimmie" they call him the world over. Britt offers a truly enjoyable variety turn, far removed from the realm of the roped arena. Except that his name is a byword in the land of sportsmanship, it would never be suspected from Britt's act or appearance in vaudeville that he had been a pugilist.

Welch and Hazleton are an extra added feature on this bill for today, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. They are eccentric comedians extra fine. They also, come to Lima direct from the Keith circuit of big-time playhouses.

A blackface novelty which is expected to receive an abundance of laughter will be offered by Josephine Harrity & Co. They will present a brand new repertoire of African songs, capers and dialogue.

The Act Beautiful is one of the most entrancing novelties of the year. To describe it would be to take away from the charm of its oddity.

Gere and Delaney will be seen in an off-time different and delightful. They will open the program with a "punch" that should go far towards the success of the show as a whole.

The King's daughters of the First Reformed church will meet Tuesday evening in the Parish House at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr and Mrs. Lloyd Bowers, W. North-st, attended the Ohio State-Michigan football game in Columbus Saturday.

FIRST TOUCH OF WINTER IS FELT

Lends Exhilaration to Sluggish
Men and Women of Social World—Renewed Activity

Foot Ball is All-Absorbing Sport
Now—Motor Trips Planned to College Towns

The first touch of winter lends a feeling of exhilaration to the most sluggish and women of the social world are taking a keener interest than ever before in entertaining and much effort is being put forth that their affairs may be the most unusual. Thanksgiving, at which time turkey gobbler novelties and chrysanthemums in pale lavender, pink and yellow are characteristic, and with the opening of November, replaces the Halloween affairs, which are marked with weird creatures, ghosts, hobgoblins, witches, black cats and owls.

Few of the young school set will be able to return for a vacation and participate in the usual Thanksgiving affairs. For that reason there will be practically no entertaining for the younger people. Their minds will be occupied with football, so characteristic of college students.

Many interesting motor trips are already being planned by Limaites to university and college towns, where they will witness the Thanksgiving football games.

Announcement of the engagement in marriage of their youngest daughter, Miss Elsie Weikelbaum, by Mr. and Mrs. A. Weikelbaum, 620 W. Spring-st., to Bernard H. Blum, Lima, was occasion for the expression of a shower of congratulations and a profusion of good wishes from the wide circle of admiring friends of the two young people in Lima.

Miss Weikelbaum, who has spent the greater part of her life in Lima, numbers her friends only by those who come in contact with her charming personality. She is a graduate of Lima High School and attended the Mary Lauder school in Toledo, Ohio, from which she was graduated. She was also a student at Columbia University, New York.

After completing her college work, she returned to Lima, where she served as teacher in the public schools, resigning only a few days ago, in anticipation of her marriage.

Blum was formerly manager of the Leiser store, coming to this city from Albany, N. Y. He recently associated himself with the Feldman store, of which he is now an advertising manager. The wedding will be an event of December.

An interesting meeting of the Daughters of the American Revolution was held Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Norval with Mrs. J. R. Vail as hostesses. Mrs. Frank Bell gave a review of O'Henry's "Four Million." Miss Elizabeth Newson gave a paper on "Home River Anthology" and Miss Mack Nucklenz gave a review of Robert Frost's "Northern Boston." At 5 o'clock the hostesses served tea.

Guests of the afternoon were: Miss Helen Winslow, Jamestown, N. Y.; Mrs. S. Day, Wichita, Kan.; and Mrs. Elizabeth Brice Wilson, Portsmouth, N. H.

Mrs. F. L. Conner, 915 Dingleline-ave., was tendered a most delightful surprise at her home Thursday by a group of friends in celebration of her birthday anniversary. Games and music were enjoyed and later refreshments were served.

Guests included: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hoffman and son, Charles, St. Marys; Mrs. Mary Conner, St. Marys; Mrs. Hoffman, New Bremen; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lehman, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Long, Mrs. William, Miss Marie Williams, Mrs. Josephine Conner, Earl Conner, Mrs. Lillie Boesel and Pete Sarber.

Miss Helen Miller, niece of Mrs. N. F. Hall, 105 N. Collet-st., will resume her teaching during the coming weeks after having been confined to her home with a several weeks' illness.

LOWER PRICES ON KNITTING YARNS

Local Store Announces
Revised Price List of Prominent Manufacturer

Reductions Average Between
20 Per Cent and 30 Per Cent

The announcement of an important price reduction in hand knitting yarns has just been made by the largest manufacturers of these goods in the United States.

Word of this reduction has just been received by G. E. Blum, local department store, from S. B. & B. W. Fleisher, Inc., of Philadelphia, who manufacturers more than seven per cent of all the hand knitting Yarns used in the United States. It is announced that the reduction will average between 20% and 30% in price. S. B. & B. W. Fleisher, Inc., state in their announcement that while labor costs at present are higher than they have ever been, the reduction in price of knitting yarns is made possible by economy of production in their plants, due to greatly increased capacity during the war, plus a recent decrease in the price of raw materials.

S. B. & B. W. Fleisher, Inc., is one of the oldest yarn manufacturers in the United States, having been established over 53 years. They were the first American concern to manufacture hand knitting Yarn. Their immense mills cover over 16 acres of floor space and employ over 2000 people.

BIFURCATED ROBE IN BATIK DESIGN

BY ELOISE

This costume was designed for a Pullman robe, but it would be far better for wear in milder's boudoir as bifurcated garments are much harder to manipulate than the ordinary kimono in a Pullman berth. They are fast gaining in popularity, however, and are really very comfortable and do away with the necessity for a petticoat or bloomers. This suit was designed for a pretty actress, but it has been copied by one of the leading shops and now many a home woman will spend her leisure moments in a Turkish lady.

Rich purple silk crepe is used to fashion the pantaloons and the blouse features batik work, which is so very fashionable just now. The blouse is a slipover, loose fitting style with a truly artistic batik design and deep fringe trimming. This costume would make a very lovely Christmas gift.

The Women's Home Missionary Society of Trinity A. B. church will meet in the parlors, November 19 at 2:30 p. m. This is the annual Thank Offering meeting. Hostesses: Mrs. Geo. Schermerhorn, Mrs. Geo. Woods, Mrs. I. N. Kaib, Mrs. Miller, Laurie, Topic: "We and our neighbors." Devotions: "The Great Supper." Mrs. G. Shreve, Lesson, Chapter II Study Book; leader, Mrs. R. L. Evans, assisted by Mrs. Frank Conner and Mrs. Fred Bissanz; singing solo, Mrs. Kraft; piano, Mrs. Schermerhorn. Social hour in charge of Mrs. C. L. Keyser and Mrs. C. L. Wright, both of the committee.

The Women's Home Missionary society of the Bethany Lutheran church will hold their annual Thank-offering meeting in this church on Wednesday afternoon. A special program has been planned and every woman of the church is invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Kenester, Glouwin, Mich., are the week-end guests of Mrs. J. W. Smith, E. High-st. She is also entertaining Glenn and Robert Taylor, Lakeview.

Mrs. A. E. Pierce, 920 Brice-ave., was the charming hostess, Friday evening, for members of the Good Cheer class of the Market-st. Presbyterian Sunday school, taught by Charles E. Eckert. The guests came masked.

Rooms of the Pierce home were in the Halloween colors, black and yellow decorations abounding everywhere. In a clever contest, Mrs. Edgar Williams was the successful winner. Before masks were discarded, the guests were forced to select the noxious from among the maskers and much merriment ensued.

The business of the class was transacted and refreshments served. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Pierce, chairman, Mrs. P. R. Marshall, Mrs. W. E. Wiley, Miss Marie Hirsland, Miss Hoadie Camp and Miss Corrie Benn.

Guests, other than members present, were the Rev. Samuel Huecker, Mrs. Huecker, Mrs. Maro Johnson and Mrs. Harry DeWitt.

Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Meyers and daughter, Toledo, are the week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bru, 1104 Linden-st.

Miss Viola North and Esther Ridgway will be in charge of the Twilight hour at the Y. W. C. A. on Sunday evening at 4 o'clock. Miss Ridgway will sing a group of Riley's poems which have been set to music.

On Tuesday of the coming week there will be an important meeting of the Board of Directors and the Tourist Prete club will meet Wednesday at the Y. W. C. A.

On Thanksgiving the Y. W. C. A. will celebrate the first anniversary in the new club rooms and an interesting program has been planned for that week. There will be an Oriental Day and several plays given. Mrs. Wisely is chairman of the arrangements during that week.

Miss Henrietta Merriman, secretary at the Y. W. C. A. in Akron, will be the speaker at the dinner and meeting of the College Women's club to be held at the Hotel Norval Saturday evening.

Mrs. Kent Hughes will present a paper on "Glimpses of California" and Mrs. R. J. Curtis will sing.

A number of interesting affairs are being planned by the College Women's club for the winter months and several well known speakers are to be brought here by the organization. The first will be Percy MacFadyen, of Miami University, who will appear here November 22nd.

The hostesses for the dinner on Saturday evening will be Mrs. Grace Hollister, Mrs. Roy B. Gregg, and Miss Helen McDaniel.

The Mikko club held a meeting Friday afternoon with Miss Cecilia Kelley, N. Main-st., games and music were enjoyed during the evening and in a clever contest Miss Elsie Lubnitz and Florence Sawmiller were successful. At a late hour a dainty luncheon was served by the hostesses assisted by Miss Mary Gardman.

Members attending the meeting were: Miss Eubice Stone, Miss Ruth Ricker, Miss Wilma Ruthan, Miss Beatrice Watt, Miss Ruby Gorman, Miss Elsie Lubnitz, Miss Mary Gardman, Mrs. Roy Sawmiller, Miss Olga Ross, Miss Elizabeth Foley, Miss Hazel Tabler and the hostesses.

Miss Betty Langhlin, W. Market-st., was hostess to the members of the Wednesday Evening Euchre club at her home Wednesday evening. Miss Nellie Dickey and Edward Wallace held high scores. At a late hour refreshments were served.

The next meeting of the club will be held with Miss Bess Stimples, W. Market-st.

The Security Benefit Association held a regular meeting Thursday evening in the Solar Hall. About eighty-nine members were present. Following the business session refreshments were served.

The next meeting will be held on Thursday evening.

The Lotus club will meet Monday afternoon at 2:15 o'clock with the president, Mrs. Frank M. Bell, W. High-st. Italy will be the topic for discussion.

LIMA CLUBS AGAIN ARE ACTIVE

Regular Programs and Courses of Study Resumed Now That Election Has Passed

Joint Meeting Monthly of Lotus,
Arbutus and Women's Clubs to Hear Lectures

The clubs of Lima are again resuming their regular programs and courses of study following the recent disturbances of the study of citizenship and casting of votes. Many of the organizations are bringing interesting out-of-town speakers here during the winter months. The Shakespeare club is planning to bring lecturers here several times during the club season to speak on Shakespeare and his plays.

The Lotus, Arbutus and Women's clubs will hold a joint meeting each month at which time one of the professors at Oberlin College will speak. The College Women's club also is planning a number of entertainments for the winter. More interesting affairs have been planned by the clubs and organizations of the city for this winter than at any time in the past.

Several interesting affairs have been projected for the coming weeks. The Mercy Circle of King's Daughters will entertain with another one of its delightful bridge-occasions. The affair will be given on Wednesday afternoon in the drawing room of the Elk's home with Mrs. George L. Newson, Mrs. Grace Enck, Mrs. Kent Hughes, Mrs. Harry Harper Jr., Mrs. T. R. Terwilliger and Mrs. Clinton Sealts as hostesses.

The party is being given for the scholarship funds and a portion of the proceeds will be used to pay expenses for the adequate care for a child who was recently burned and whose parents are unable to give it necessary medical attention and care.

Entertainment is being planned for those not participating in the playing of cards.

Mrs. M. S. Allen, Columbus-ave., entertained the members of the Social Circle club at her home Thursday afternoon. The rooms were made unusually attractive with bowls of purple and white chrysanthemums. In a clever contest Mrs. Frank O'Dell won first prize, and Mrs. Rose Stapleton second. Following a short business session the hostesses served a delicious luncheon assisted by her sister, Mrs. Heftner.

The North Division of the Ladies Aid society of the Zion Lutheran church tendered Mrs. Edward Hobbs, the chairman, with a surprise, the occasion being her birthday anniversary.

Dr. and Mrs. T. K. Jacobs, Bellefontaine, and Mrs. T. A. McLaughlin, W. High-st. will entertain the members of the T. and T. club at the McLaughlin home Friday evening at 6 o'clock dinner.

Mrs. O. B. Selfridge, W. Market-st., and her houseguest, Mrs. Zoe Day Wichita, Kan., Mrs. Lush M. Butler and Mrs. Alice M. Hill were the guests of Mrs. N. W. Cunningham at luncheon on Friday.

Priscilla Dean in
THE UNIVERSAL-JEWEL MASTER PRODUCTION
"The Virgin of Stamboul."

One of the Year's Most Stupendous Productions

The picture gives a delightful hint of what is in store for patrons of the Lyric theatre next Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday when captivating Priscilla Dean appears as the star in one of the year's most stupendous productions "The Virgin of Stamboul." It is appropriate to mention in this connection that for these four days The Lyric proposes certainly to give Lima Amusement lovers the full worth of their money as jointly with this picture constituting a big double bill, Harold Lloyd will be there in his funniest sketch yet "Get Out and Get Under." No stage ever made could be one-thousandth part big enough to depict the costly and splendid of "The Virgin of Stamboul." It's a picture as human as the call of love; as thrilling as the lightning blast; as tender as the warm kiss of a babe. Unusual, spectacular—a real "Wonder production." Nobody can afford to miss the genuine treat which is to be found in this big double bill at the Lyric next Sunday, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The Palace of Darkened Windows

BY MARY HARTING BRADLEY

"H'm," meditated Billy. "The condemned man ate a hearty tea of Orange Pekoe and cress sandwiches," he reflected silently. He also reflected that Miss Falconer would be furious—and that invited him—and that time was interminable and that this expedition was as good a way of getting thru the afternoon as any other. Thereupon he turned to the English girl, with a humorous challenge in his gaze. "I wonder if you and Miss Falconer would let this be my tea, party?" He suggested. "Miss Falconer will be delighted," said Lady Claire mendaciously.

The traces of that delight, however, lay beneath so well schooled an exterior that they were decidedly non-apparent. Nor did Robert Falconer's mien reveal any hint of joy when he returned to the hotel and found the two ladies starting with Billy. He joined them with rather the air of a watch dog, but that air soon wore away during the long drive under the spell of young Hill's frank friendliness and gay good humor. For Billy was extravagantly in spirits. Excitement stirred in him like wine; his blood was on fire with thoughts of the evening.

"It's the fool lark of the thing," he said, half apologetically, to Falconer's wonder when the two young men were alone for a minute on the Gezireh veranda. "Didn't you ever want to be a pirate?"

The red-headed young man nodded. "Yes, but this business doesn't make me feel like a pirate—more like a second-story man!"

"I've left letters with Fritz Baroff," said Hill, "and if we're not back by morning, she's to go to the authorities with them."

"That won't do us any good," said the Englishman grimly.

But after the ladies returned it was a very merry-seeming tea party. Even Miss Falconer unbent to the artist, as she persisted in calling Billy, tho he had dutifully enlightened her that engineering was his true and proper life work, and art but a random diversion, and she promised to show him the sketches which she had been making, and plied him with questions about his mysterious America.

And Lady Claire was very prettily animated, and rallied Falconer upon his absent-mindedness and told Billy tales of her English home and how her father had threatened to change the name of the Hall to Madchenheim because there were five daughters of them. "Five girls near an age. Mr. Hill, and all poor as church mice!" she had blithely asserted.

But from what Billy heard of bala and hunters and "seasons," he gleaned that being poor as church mice, for these five titled girls, meant merely an effort in keeping up with the things they felt should be theirs by right divine. And as Billy listened, feeling the force of the girl's attraction, the charm of her serene confidence and the pleasant air of security and well-being that hedged her in, he stole a covert glance at Falconer's unrevealing countenance and reflected that it was rather a stormy day for that young man when he became entangled with the fortunes of little Miss Beecher. It was also a stormy day for himself, but he felt that storms belonged more naturally to his adventurous lot.

But it was characteristic of Falconer when once committed to a plan not to open his mind to the objections which besieged it. That night, at the fall of dark, as the two young men motored forth together, he maintained a stolid resolution which refused to look back. The approach of the danger was tuning up his nerves, and whatever his common sense might think about it, his youth and pluck greeted the adventure with a quickening heart and a rash warmth of blood.

Both young men were resolute and confident. Either would have been more than human if he had not looked a trifle askance upon the other, and wished to thunder that he had been able to go into it alone and to have tasted the intoxication of delivering the girl singlehanded out of the den of thieves. But the success of the plan was paramount, as Billy reminded himself.

He found himself hoping wildly that she would see him as well as Falconer.

She has probably forgotten all about me," he thought ruefully. "She won't remember that dance with me, nor that chat next morning. I'm just an Also Met. She won't even perceive me. She'll see that sandy-haired deliverer—and she'll tell him how right he was and how good to come after her."

Thus jealousy darkly painted his undoing. "But, damn it, I had to ask him!" Thus he downed his ungenerous thoughts. "It needed two men at least—and besides, I don't want any handicap of gratitude in this."

They left the automobile in the Mohammean graveyard with exact and impressive instructions. And then they stole back among the gloomy trees and ghostly tombs to where the canal washed the foot of the little terraces, and there the one-eyed man sat waiting in the canopy, a figure of profound misanthropy.

Silently he lifted a stricken but set countenance, and they climbed in and the three paddled off, approaching the back of the palace with wary eyes, for they were afraid that a guard might now be set upon the walls. But Billy had argued that Kriesen was unaware of Fritz's knowledge of Arlee's identity; in fact she had at first supposed her willing supplanter like herself, and so he would not be apprehensive of any of her revelations. And he did not dream that Fritz's rescuers were interested in Arlee.

At the strip of path the canoe made softly to shore and the two young men climbed out, while the Arab remained in the canoe, his single eye peering into the darkness. This time Billy had provided three stout, but narrow, ladders, constructed of two poles nailed together with occasional cross pieces that gave a row room for a foot. He set one of these in place against the wall now, grounding its ends deep in the soft earth, so that it would remain in readiness for any sudden descent. Then from the top of the wall they reconnoitered the scene before them.

It was very dark. The garden was full of blotting shadows, and the long wing of the harem lay almost in darkness, with only a faint beam from two adjacent windows to reveal a sign of life. Those windows were on the third story, next the angle made by the union of the banquet hall and the harem, and Billy's heart quickened as he recognized the location of the rose room.

"That's it—that's her room," he whispered excitedly to Falconer.

Falconer stared and nodded. "I wish that ceiling hall wasn't in the way ahead of us. I'd like to see what lights are in the windows in that court beyond."

"We might both go and take a look," said Billy doubtfully, "but I guess you had better make straight for your roofs. It wouldn't do to have us both nabbed. Do you hear anything?"

They listened, crouching flat upon the wall, straining their eyes toward the palace. There was a high wind blowing and above them the leaves of the palm trees were slapping against each other, and below the shrubs and flowers were stirring restlessly. But the noise of the wind, they felt, was helpful to cover the sounds of their approach.

"Why—can't I make my way around on top of this wall and climb on the roofs from the start?" Falconer questioned, and Billy answered, "I asked her that. She said it couldn't be done. You'd have to climb thru some unsafe rubbish. The best way is down and up again in that angle that she showed me. Shall we start?"

The same impulse made both men examine their revolvers, then drop them in readiness into their right-hand coat pockets. They moved along the top of the wall till they reached the angle with the wall on their right and then they lowered the same knotted rope which Billy had used the night before, but now the other rope added to it made it into a rope ladder. Suspending that over the top of the wall by iron hooks, they slipped down it, each with a pole ladder in his arms, and with another hook of iron they drove the ends down into the earth, so that the rope would not wave out in the wind and either betray them or become displaced.

It was insecure enough, anyway. They felt it ought to be left in

JUST A GIRL

BY J. NE PHELPS

In spite of my objections, Tony insisted upon having dinner at the Blackstone.

"I am not dressed for such a place," I told him as a last plea. I really hated the thought of looking out of place and so perhaps embarrassing him.

"I haven't seen anyone there who looks any better nor half as well to me, and I have been there two weeks. I guess, Zena, you have forgotten what a stunning girl you are. Haven't you a mirror in your room?"

"Of course, silly!"

"I was going to ask if I might send one if you hadn't. I'd advise you to look into one occasionally. It will save you the trouble of apologizing for your looks."

"I see you haven't changed if I have!" I retorted just as we drew up to the brightly lighted entrance of the Blackstone.

Tony piloted me to the dining room, whispered to the head waiter, who looked serious for a moment and then, as something passed unobtrusively from Tony's pocket to his hand, he obsequiously led us to one of the best tables in the room. He removed the "Reserved" sign with a flourish.

"Same old trick!" I said laughing. "They all do it. Part of the business. Now aren't you glad you came?" The orchestra had commenced to play.

"That's the way to talk! Now listen to the music while I order. Be careful tho! They are looking at you already!"

I did look about, altho I saw nothing of the stars to which Tony had referred. Instead I saw fine looking men, and beautifully dressed women, chatting, laughing, all enjoying themselves. I listened to the music, and decided I too, would forget and enjoy, without spoiling my own and Tony's pleasure by giving way to the feeling that I was doing something I might regret. I had felt that way all the way down in the taxi—that I might regret going out with Tony.

Tony ordered a delicious dinner—all the things I liked and had not eaten for so long. He declared he must buy a bottle of wine to celebrate, altho he remembered I never touched it. And thought me too young—and when I said I never had taken any, went without himself rather than have anything I couldn't enjoy. His selfishness touched me because I knew Tony Deland and men like him consider a bottle of wine almost a necessary adjunct to the sort of dinner he ordered.

It was good to sit opposite him and listen to the chatter of the old crowd, of the boys and girls I used to know so well. He said Jack Pryor was paying attention to Edith Wren, but he didn't think anything would come of it.

"Old Jack was crazy about you, Zena! I always thought you'd end by marrying him!"

"No, Tony! I don't think I ever had any real idea I would marry Jack. I liked him, liked to be with him. But I have always felt that liking was not enough—that a girl must really care very much to marry a man."

"I know Zena, but you—things changed so—I know Jack saw you once after—he told me. Perhaps I shouldn't give him away. But he was pretty well knocked out when you went away and left no word for him."

I made no reply, and Tony was soon laughing and chatting in his old imitable way again. We lingered over our dessert and coffee until the dining room was nearly empty. Then we went out and sat in the lobby for half an hour longer and listened to the music.

"It is 11 o'clock!" I exclaimed, almost. "I must get home, Tony. I have to get up very early, you know."

"Danged shame too!" But he rose immediately and took me home. On the way I made him promise to say nothing of having seen me to anyone.

"I have to lead my own life—a very different one, Tony, and I prefer to be lost to all that belonged to the old life—even friends. I am a working girl. Probably I always shall be. I went with you tonight, and have enjoyed it hugely. But such pleasures are not for me. They do not fit in with the life I have mapped out for myself."

He promised at once, altho he said he thought me foolish.

Your friends love you for your self, Zena, not for anything else."

GULBRANSEN Player-Piano

When Good Fellows Get Together

If you want a lively time at your Stag Party, put a good song roll on the Gulbransen. It will start things going, and very likely uncover unexpected talent. Every fellow likes a chance to do his clog, or a stunt with banjo, mandolin or bones, or at least join in the chorus.

The Gulbransen is always ready for anyone to play. And every song you ever heard of is available in player-rolls, with the words on the roll so everybody can read them. The latest dance songs and love songs. The topical, joking songs from the new operas, the boisterous "altogether-now" songs and the old close harmonies.

You can make your home parties the most enjoyable in your neighborhood if you have a Gulbransen and a good assortment of rolls. Every occasion is made more enjoyable by music, and music for every occasion is available for the Gulbransen.

Easy to Play

You will especially appreciate the ease with which you can play a Gulbransen. Its "pedal-touch" is delightful, exquisite. After a few evenings with the new Martin Method instruction rolls you will astonish your friends by your skill.

Try a Gulbransen yourself at one of the dealers' stores named below. Try some of the songs you'd like to pull at a Stag Party. You will never be satisfied with any other player-piano once you try the Gulbransen. It will make you realize that evenings at home are much duller than they need be.

Nationally Priced

Gulbransen Player-Pianos, three models all playable by hand or by roll, are sold at the same prices to everybody, everywhere in the United States, freight and war tax paid. Price, branded in the back of each instrument at the factory, now includes six instruction rolls (Martin Method) and our authoritative book on home entertaining and music study with the Gulbransen.

HERO OF VERDUN TO ATTEND PILGRIMS' CELEBRATION

NEW YORK.—General Robert Nivelle, the hero of Verdun, and with whose name will be connected the salvation of France in the darkest days of the war, will arrive in America early this month. He is the head of a delegation from France coming here to take part in the celebration of the centenary of the landing of the pilgrims under the direction of the Mayflower Council, which was organized early this year and is representative of all the churches and religious bodies of America. General Nivelle will be accompanied by Colonel Azon, who is well known in America for his services during the war as an instructor at Yale, and the Rev. André Monod, secretary of the Federation of Protestant Churches in France.

England will be represented in this celebration by the Rev. R. Gillie, president-elect of the Free Church Council of Great Britain; the Rev. Alexander Ramsey, one of the leading pastors of London, and Canon E. A. Burroughs, prominent as a speaker, thinker and writer and professor at Oxford and one of the strongest men among the younger clergy of the Established Church of England. Also Mr. Harold Spender, the official biographer of Lloyd George and a leading subject of England.

Baron Mackay will represent Holland. He is coming as the official representative of the Netherlands. A committee in Belgium is sending a delegation but the persons have not yet been announced.

ARRIVAL, MASS MEETING

The American Legion will cooperate with the Mayflower Council in giving these guests a huge welcome. Mass meetings have been arranged in sixty of the leading cities of America where in each place one of these visitors from across the sea will be chief speaker with one of the leaders in the church and civic life of America. Among American speakers who will take part in this celebration are Dr. Charles E. Jefferson, Dr. Samuel A. Cook, Rev. I. Devereux Hager, Dr. K. G. L. Van den Bosch, William F. McInerney, Dr. Richard Roberts, Dr. Herbert J. Walcott, Dr. Talbot Williams, Ralph Stephen S. Wise and Dr. John H. Finley.

The meetings held at the different places throughout America will culminate in a huge mass meeting in Carnegie hall on Friday evening, November 26.

Both President Wilson and Mr. Taft are honorary presidents of the Mayflower Council, and Dr. Henry Churchill King, president of Oberlin College, is the chairman, and Dr. Henry Van Dyke is the honorary secretary. On the board of directors entertainment of these distinguished visitors and their engagements are in the hands of the World Alliance for International Friendship through the churches, with offices at No. 70 Fifth avenue, New York.

HUNDRED TRAINED NURSES WORKING TO HELP CHECK SALEM TYPHOID EPIDEMIC

ALLIANCE, O. — Dr. R. M. Schwartz, city health officer, stated

Saturday that the typhoid fever epidemic at Salem had reached its climax, and that no more new cases are expected. To date there has been 271, six of which resulted in death. At present there are more than 100 hundred nurses working on the cases and an effort is being made to contain a larger number. Typhoid pneumonia has developed in a number of those stricken with typhoid fever and the trained nurses are taxed to the limit of their strength in caring for the patients.

Pointed Questions for Men

You men in business, especially those in middle life, should ask yourselves some pointed questions —Questions which bear on the welfare of wife or daughter; perhaps an aged mother or a sister whose life has not been showered with blessings which have entered your own.

"Is her welfare secure, or is her fortune so linked with mine that disaster to me will overwhelm her also?"

"Is there reason why I cannot dedicate part of my comfortable fortune or of my income to HER independence?"

"Would not an income IN HER OWN RIGHT add to her security and comfort?"

Don't put aside these questions. Answer them. The "Lima Trust Plan" offers the best answer. Ask for our booklet.

Redfern Corsets

REDFERN
No. 8144

is a beautiful model made of exquisite silk brocade. Extremely low bust, whalebone stayed, specially designed to develop a smart figure.

Price $12.00

There is no corset made which can equal a Redfern in giving that sense of luxurious comfort which women appreciate instinctively.

A Redfern will give your figure the most beautifully modeled contour imaginable—the slim hips, the flat back, the low bust effect demanded by the mode; but it will do this at no expense of perfect ease.

A Redfern does not "bind", the material never seems to squeeze the flesh, nor do the bones make their presence felt. There are no "tight spots", no pulling or straining—and why? Because every Redfern is correctly designed and correctly cut for the figure it is made to fit. Let us give you a fitting and prove it.

SHORT SHAVINGS

A certain pastor makes it a point to welcome any strangers cordially, and one evening after the completion of the service he hurried down the aisle to station himself at the door.

A Swedish girl was one of the strangers in the congregation. She is employed as a domestic in one of the fashionable homes, and the minister, noting that she was a stranger, stretched out his hand. He welcomed her to the church and expressed the hope that she would be a regular attendant. Finally he said that if she would be at home some evening during the week he would call.

"Thank you," she murmured bashfully, "but we have a teller."

Harold Lloyd rarely fails to get his daily laugh from the savings of Kid Blue, the big colored heavyweight who works as extra around the Rolin Film Company studio in Los Angeles. The Kid was "padding" his landlady recently. It appears that the bungalow rented by the hard working actor was not built for wet weather. The first rain of the season rolled against the roof and then kept right on rolling thru the frail shingles. The landlady came in answer to a hurry-up call and in trying to smooth the situation, over assured "Whatah Blue that he would soon put in a bath for him."

"You'll put in a bath?" spluttered the Kid as he viewed the drenched surroundings. "Whatah! Whatah! is a new roof or a cahload of towels!"

Lima Area No. 370, Fraternal Order Eagles, will hold a special meeting Tuesday night. All members are urged to be present. Proposed changes in the by-laws will be acted upon.

Buy Less Food--But Get
More Real Nourishment

If You Want Plenty of Strength and Vitality

The human body runs on its food, just as the engine runs on coal or gas. If you shove poor coal into the engine it will not produce the power to make it go. Putting into the human system foods which do not contain sufficient nourishment, is just like throwing poor coal or weak gasoline into the engine.

Yet probably nine out of every ten people not up to the mark in health, strength and vitality are weak, rundown, pale and underweight simply because they are eating every day foods from which most of the real nourishment has been destroyed. Science knows that in the milling of grain, the preparation and cooking of vegetables and other raw foods, Nature's most nourishing substances—the vitamins—are almost totally lost.

So necessary are these vitamins to build physical power, mental vigor, and give you a full life that the eminent Nutrition expert, Dr. Carl C. Johns, says: "We may have all the foods but without vitamins we would get no good from them." As a matter of fact, a dollar's worth of food with plenty of nourishing, health-giving vitamins supplies you far more energy and endurance than ten dollars' worth of food without sufficient vitamins.

There is no question in the minds of physicians consulted that, had a means been found long ago by which the body could receive ALL the vitamins Nature intended instead of only the small part remaining in

Dr. John J. Rudolph, a former Health Commissioner, says: "The results obtained, both from taking Vitamin myself and prescribing it for my men and women patients have been so astonishingly gratifying, that I do not believe there is anything whatsoever to which I should not compare."

Information Important to You
In countless disorders associated with weakness, anæmia, lack of energy, loss of weight, nervous troubles, indigestion, constipation, sallow skin, poor complexion and a general rundown condition, the astonishing health-value of vitamins has been so clearly demonstrated that physicians are now regularly prescribing VITAMON as well as taking it themselves. So confident are the manufacturers of the rapid and pronounced benefits it produces that they make the following unconditional guarantee: Use Vitamon for ten days and see for yourself the surprising change in your health and physical appearance, your energy and mental vigor and the joy you get out of life. If you are not entirely satisfied with the results and are not convinced from the way you LOOK and FEEL that it has been worth to you far more than you paid for it, your money will be promptly refunded and the trial will cost you nothing. Your own druggist has VITAMON in stock or can readily obtain it for you. In any case you can be sure of getting it from Mykants Drug, Hunter's, Red Cross Drug, Baldwin's, Central Drug, Enterprise Drug, Cunningham Drug.

But only recently has Science found a way to "preserve and condense these precious vitamins into a form that could be pleasantly taken with your meals and actually feed the blood, the nerves, the tissues and all the bodily organs with real health-building nourishment. These concentrated vitamins in the tablet form known as Vitamon provide a simple and easy means by which you can draw upon Nature's hidden source of power and quickly gain the strength and vitality that should be yours.
